DEAD AND INJURED IN A DEEP HOLLOW

Police at Sea to Give Any Idea of Why Crime Was Attempted

UTICA N Y Sept 13—A crime for which there at present appears to be no explanation was committed last night the victims being three Italian children in this city

They are Theresa Procipio 7 years of age who was shot through the heart Fanny Infusino 3 years of age badly wounded in left arm and Fredie Infusino [illegible] shot through the bowels [illegible]

The last named two are the children of [illegible] Infusino who kept grocery [illegible] street and the little [illegible] with her parents over In[illegible] store The children had been [illegible] since early last evening when they were seen talking with a man about [illegible]

The dead body of Theresa Procepio and the wounded Infusino were found at the bottom of a deep hollow which is spanned by several viaducts After Fanny Infusino had been revived she said that a man took her little brother by the hand and asked him to go along a little way promising the boy to buy him something [illegible] The girls followed attempting to get the [illegible] away from the stranger

CHILD TELLS STORY

Fanny Ferort tells the following story

"We were playing in front of our house yesterday when a man commenced to talk to Teresa After he had given Teresa some money she called out 'Come on with me this man is my godfather'

The man took us to the outskirts of the city when [illegible] suddenly [illegible] and swore and shot [illegible] Freddie and myself couldn't move

"I begged him not to do it, but he took Fredie and holding him in his arms shot him

Freddie groaned and the man threw him on the ground beside Teresa

After he had shot Freddie the man turned his revolver on me He shot me through the arm and I fell to the ground [illegible] Then he put the revolver in his pocket and ran away

Although I spoke time and again to [illegible] and Freddie they would not answer

[illegible] and [illegible] not re[illegible] anything more until I was [illegible] by another strange man

ATTORNEY DE LANCEY IS ARRAIGNED; CLERK FLOOD TO ENTER PLEA OF GUILTY

To Throw Himself Upon Mercy of the Court After the District Attorney Makes a Statement.

In the face of the damaging evidence upon which the Grand Jury based its indictments and which District Attorney Donahue believes to conclusively prove his guilt Attorney John S De Lancey has determined to stand trial This was indicated in the criminal department of the Superior Court today during another preliminary proceeding in his cases

De Lancey appeared before Judge Brown at 1 o'clock this morning for arraignment and to plead on the four indictments returned against him in connection with the looting of the George Hite Cook estate one for the felonious embezzlement of $10 000 one for falsifying defacing and mutilating the official records of the Public Administrator and two for causing the Public Administrator to render false reports to the probate department of the Superior Court of the estates in his control and the amount of money on hand in each estate The indicted attorney pleaded not guilty to all four of the charges and [illegible] Wednesday morning Oc[illegible] the day and date upon which his trial upon one of the five indictments pending against him will begin

COOK ESTATE CASE FIRST

Attorneys M C Chapman and A. L. Frick appeared for De Lancey and demanded that the District Attorney advise them as to which of the cases he proposed to try first Mr Donahue objected to being required to do this on the moment explaining that he had not yet decided which one would be taken up first De Lancey's counsel insisted that they all [illegible] to know so that they could go about the defense intelligently and finally after considerable argument pro and con the point in controversy was compromised

The District Attorney said that in all probability he would try the case of felony embezzlement in the George Hite Cook estate first but that he would notify the attorneys for the defense by next Monday evening finally whether his office would take that case up first or the forgery charge in the A. L. Pounstone estate which is covered by [illegible] indictment which the Grand Jury returned against De Lancey

FLOOD TO PLEAD GUILTY

A J Flood appeared in court this morning also and while he pleaded not guilty to the indictment charging him with forgery in the A. L. Pounstone estate and his case was set for trial for Monday morning, October 25, it may be reliably stated today that when the case is called for trial Flood will change his plea to guilty and throw himself upon the mercy of the court

While his attorney Lin S Church refused to discuss the matter authoritatively today he did say that there was a good possibility of his client doing as has been indicated in the foregoing

My advice to Flood all along has been to tell the truth and make a clean breast of his conduct during his connection with the public administrator's office and I believe that he has followed it Whether or not he will change today's plea depends altogether upon developments between the present and the time of the trial

ADMITS HIS CONNECTION.

"Flood has freely admitted his connection with the E James Finney forgery and for this reason there is nothing more to be said about that As his attorney it is my intention to do the very best for him that I can and save him if possible This is all I care to say on the subject

Flood has been of very great assistance to the district attorney in the latter's conduct of the public administrator investigation by the grand jury and as it is generally believed in court circles that if Flood does finally decide to plead guilty and take the consequences the district attorney will ask the court to take these services and the fact that he has saved the county the expense of a trial into consideration in pronouncing judgment

It is not believed that Flood under such circumstances would be permitted to go scot free but the point is raised that the indicted man would stand a good chance of receiving a very light sentence and being admitted to probation during the period of the judgment.

FLOOD MEETS GRAY.

When Flood was leaving the court house this morning he met former Public Administrator Gray in the corridor at the Broadway entrance.

'Hello AL,' said Gray as he extended his hand in greeting

How are you, George,' replied Flood and the two men shook hands cordially They sidestepped into a near corner and there held a very earnest confab for about five minutes

Of course the scandal was the subject discussed but what was said remains a secret between Gray and his former clerk

PEARY DENIES HAVING ANY OF COOK'S RECORDS

Controversy Over Discovery of North Pole Grows Bitterer Daily

COMMANDER STILL IN BATTLE HARBOR

Roosevelt May Be Forced to Remain Several Days in Labrador Port

ST JOHNS, N F, Sept 13—Captain Bartlett, commander of the steamer Roosevelt, has sent a telegram to a relative here saying that the steamer would remain at Assizes Harbor, near Battle Harbor, to be painted, and that she will arrive at Sydney about September 25.

NEW YORK Sept 13 — The following wireless and cable message has been received in this city

'BATTLE HARBOR (Labrador) via Cape Ray, N F Sept 12. — I have no knowledge of Cook's having given Whitney any records There are no Cook records on the Roosevelt PEARY"

In Copenhagen Dr Frederick A Cook declared that he had given to Harry Whitney the wealthy young big game hunter part of the records of his observations on his return from the north pole to Etah Greenland Dr Cook assumed that Whitney would bring his records to this country Commander Robert E Peary on his return from the pole a year after Dr Cook picked up Whitney at Etah and was bringing him south on the Roosevelt when they met the relief ship Jeannie to which Whitney was transferred to continue his hunting for a few weeks in Baffin Bay

WHO HAS RECORDS?

It was confidently expected by Dr Cook's supporters here that Whitney had turned these records over to Commander Peary and that the latter would bring them to this country with him

While it is certain that Commander Peary will receive a notable reception on his arrival in this city all plans are merely tentative as yet as nothing definite is known as to when he will reach here One report states that the Roosevelt will be able to leave Battle Harbor before the end of this week, while another states that it can hardly depart from there before the end of the month

FIGHT GROWS BITTER

In any event New York anticipates the liveliest few weeks in many years when the rival explorers do come Dr Cook is due September 21, and four days later the Hudson Fulton celebration begins and in this it is expected that the polar argument will be forced to a conspicuous position The ill feeling between the more ardent supporters of Commander Peary and Dr Cook is characterized by much bitterness and harsh language

Many of them are urging the publication of accusations and recriminations and the fight promises to create much enduring unpleasantness

STILL IN HARBOR

SYDNEY N S Sept 13 — Commander Robert E Peary is still at Battle Harbor and his family here are eagerly awaiting word of his departure on the Roosevelt for Sydney Mrs Peary received a wireless message from her husband saying he would keep her posted, and from this brief work it is assumed Commander Peary has not definitely fixed the time of his sailing from Battle Harbor Further information is looked for today but the Roosevelt is not expected here before the latter part of this week

Plans are being made to have Herbert L Bridgman secretary of the Peary Arctic Club to meet the Roosevelt in the vicinity of St Paul's Island and take Peary aboard the steamer Tyrian, which the government has turned over to the newspapermen The Tyrian is a much faster ship than the Roosevelt and this would expedite Commander Peary's arrival here and at the same time give the correspondents an opportunity to question the Arctic explorer about the dash to the Pole and the Cook controversy

QUESTIONS ARISE

Pending the arrival of Commander Peary the questions that have arisen are being earnestly discussed among the members of the Peary welcoming party which is made up of Arctic explorers, known here that Bridgeman has suggested to Commander Peary, through wireless telegraph, that in consequence of the temper of the controversy it might be well to defer any long statement on the matter until he has reached here

BOILER EXPLODES, WRECKS BUILDING

Some of Inmates Are Thrown High in Air, While Others Are Rescued From Ruins

SAN FRANCISCO, September 13.—Two men were seriously injured, three others were slightly hurt, a number of women were either rendered hysterical or injured and the building occupied by the Lurline Baths at 2163 Geary street was almost demolished by a disastrous explosion caused by the bursting of the boiler shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

William Hansen, the engineer, had just left the boiler-room and gone upstairs to the second floor, when, like the sound of a cannon, the huge pipe burst, the floor caved in under him and he was precipitated to the floor below.

At the same moment the force of the explosion burst the outer wall of the building and Richard Tamme, a baker of 2570 Geary street, who chanced to be passing, was blown into the middle of the street and rendered unconscious.

A horse attached to a light buggy hitched nearby was instantly killed and the vehicle completely demolished.

Scantily Clad Women Run Into Street

Three men who were near the boiler-room received slight cuts and bruises which were treated at a drug store on the corner, and several woman who were in the bath-room ran to the street scantily clad and weeping hysterically.

Tamme and Hansen were conveyed to the Central Emergency Hospital. The former received severe bruises and abrasions, several wounds on the scalp and a possible fracture of the skull. Hansen was burned about the head and face and received a fractured right shoulder.

Cause of Accident Remains Mystery

The accident cannot be accounted for by the engineer, and there is no way of telling just how the big boiler burst. That there were not more people passing the building is considered marvelous, as the section is a busy one, and had there been a car passing at the time there is no doubt but what a number of persons would have been fatally injured or perhaps killed outright.

The building was made an almost complete wreck by the collapse of the second floor, and the hole in the front wall. The baths are about to move, however, to their new building at Larkin and Bush streets, and it is probable that the present structure will not be repaired.

A muffled roar from beneath the building shook the neighborhood just before noon and a cloud of steam and smoke belched forth The boiler was torn from its foundation and hurled through the roof, describing an arc high in the air and crashing into the middle of Geary street. From the second floor of the structure, where the individual bath rooms were located, men and women were blown through great gaps in the walls and the windows

WOMAN MAY DIE

Mrs Eliza Eichler of 24 Salton avenue was an occupant of one of the compartments when the explosion occurred She was shot through a window and far into the street where she landed in an unconscious heap Already an invalid, and recently discharged from a hospital Mrs Eichler is not expected to survive her injuries and the shock

Mrs Joseph Openshaw-Phoit sister of Mrs Eichler was in the same room and also was flung into the street, where she was picked up, more or less severely hurt.

A hurried count of the injured showed three men so severely hurt as to require immediate medical attention

William Hansen, the engineer and J. Denny, a fireman, both of whom were in

DENIES ASKING MRS. PEARY FOR $5000

Member of Cook's Crew Declares Wife of Commander Falsified

SHOWS COPY OF LETTER TO PROVE STATEMENT

Naval Officer's Rival Calm in Face of Charges Against Him

NEW YORK, Sept 13 — Angered by a statement coming from Mrs. Peary that she had received a letter demanding that $5000 be sent Mrs Cook to prevent trouble Rudolph Francke has made public his letter to Mrs Peary. It contains no request for money

Francke says that he makes known the contents of the letter as an act of justice to Mrs Cook who refuses to take any part in the discussion that has arisen owing to the rival claims of Peary and her husband regarding the discovery of the north pole

Seeing that Mrs Cook will not speak said Francke I feel that I must not allow Mrs Peary's charge to go unanswered. She claims that I wrote her two letters stating that she should send $5000 to Mrs Cook to prevent trouble ... my assertion that Peary wrongfully appropriated property belonging to Dr Cook

FAR FROM TRUTH

That seems to me to intimate that Mrs Cook was in some way trying to use me to get money out of Mrs Peary. Nothing could be further from the truth

Francke accompanied Dr Cook's expedition and was left at Etah by the explorer in charge of the ... letters and supplies. He asserts that Peary took the ... forced him to open Dr Cook's trunk and held him a virtual prisoner for a time

Upon his return to this country Francke says he was advised to write a complaint to Mrs Peary as a protest and to protect Dr Cook's legal rights should he wish to begin ... for the value of the property alleged to have been taken

Francke says his letter was first written in German and sent to Mrs Peary. Three persons had knowledge of the letter and Francke presented a copy

SIMPLY A PROTEST

When he did not receive any reply from Mrs Peary he consulted with his friends. It was suggested that Mrs Peary might not be able to read German so a translation was made of the letter and sent her by registered mail

Francke says the object of the letter was simply to register his protest at the first possible moment against Peary's actions

One of the persons who knew of the letter sent by Francke is Henry Johnson who was a member of the Roosevelt's crew and who has made an affidavit that Francke was put off the Roosevelt without food when he first came aboard. Johnson declares Francke said at the time that he was simply acting to protect Dr Cook's rights

Captain B S Osborn secretary of the Arctic Club says that since Peary's completed story has become known all of Dr Cook's friends are pointing out that it completely confirms his story

COOK CALM

... of Dr Cook ... How easily Dr Cook is ... the charge made by Mr Peary that he did not reach the pole is strikingly shown by his actions in the last two days

Dr Cook has sent his story for publication. Then on the day when the first of Peary's story becomes known Dr Cook gets on a steamer and starts for this country without waiting to see what Peary may have said. While he is on the ocean his story will appear

Now if Dr Cook had been the least bit worried regarding what Peary might report of conditions he could easily have waited two more days, read Peary's story and prepared any corrections he might have wished in his own story. Instead of that he shows his absolute indifference to what Peary may say

PEARY COMPLAINS

When Peary first began sending messages he complained that Dr Cook had taken his dogs and crippled the expedition. Now in his story he writes that ... and the finest dogs ever used in the Arctic regions

Some of the points in which Peary backs up Cook's first reports are striking. Both men tell of the discovery of land. Both say that the snow covers the pole and both agree regarding the conditions of the ice during the last 150 miles of the trip and its unusual color. On all these points of agreement Dr Cook was the first to make his report

FURTHER AFFIDAVITS

Joseph C White one of the members of the Peary expedition who returned with Francke on the ... visited the Arctic Club yesterday. White spoke of the affidavit he has made regarding the trip and said that most of his statements ... regarding Peary's attitude toward Francke and the supplies has ... and will not be ... until Dr Cook is arrived ...

PAXTON WRIGHT DIES ON LINER AT SEA

Aerogram Carries Message of Death to Wife in Alameda

BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN BURIED IN OCEAN

Went to Honolulu for Health and Passes Away on Return Trip

ALAMEDA Sept 13 — Paxton Wright former vice president of the Encinal Yacht Club director of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce and prominent in San Francisco business circles died Saturday on the liner Alameda en route from Honolulu and is believed to have been buried at sea

Announcement of the death of Mr Wright was made in a brief aerogram which was received at the San Francisco office of the Oceanic Steamship company. It was conveyed by telephone to Van Hedley a cousin of the decedent by John D Spreckels Jr and contains only the bare announcement of the death. The message was received yesterday. The announcement was received by Mrs Wright on her return home last night from a two weeks visit at Healdsburg

Mr Wright had been in ill health for some time. Three months ago he underwent an operation for appendicitis and the wound never healed. It was largely to improve his health as well as to transact business that Wright went to Hawaii August 1, sailing on the steamship Lurline. It is believed that his death was due to complications arising from the unhealed wound

STARTED HOME

That Wright's death was sudden is evidenced by the fact that on August 31 he had written a letter to his wife in which he declared his health was never better. Then without a word to his friends or relatives he cut his visit short and on September 8 set sail for home on the liner Alameda

Mr Wright was foremost in the campaigns for the advancement of Alameda. During the five years he resided there he started many movements designed to beautify the city and boost its advantages. His ability was soon recognized and he was taken into the directory of the Chamber of Commerce shortly after it was organized

The late Mr Wright was born in Marysville and was forty-four years of age. He is survived by a wife, a daughter, a sister, Mrs Charles Davis of Clinton avenue and a brother

SNOW ON MOUNTAINS.

The tug skirted the western coast of New Foundland and those on board could see the snows of last winter gleaming in big white patches on the mountain tops as mile after mile was traversed

The Thomas came to anchor a mile from shore. The correspondent landed in a dory and with a lantern and a guide walked three miles through the scrub and swamp to the Marconi wireless station where he was informed that the Roosevelt was still at Battle Harbor

Coming north from Bonne Bay the Thomas expended every possible pound of steam against the head seas. There was no direct word of Commander Peary's whereabouts for several days and there was the ever present liability of passing the Roosevelt on the seas

ON WAY TO PEARY

At Point Richie the additional intelligence was gleaned that the steamer Tyrian had been turned over by the New Foundland government to the newspapermen to go out and meet the Roosevelt

The Thomas lost no time at Point Richie but left at an early hour for Battle Harbor. If the weather conditions hold good she should reach there some time this afternoon

PEARY ACCUSED OF BEING GRAFTER

Charged With Fleecing Surgeon and Treating Members of Crew Like Slaves

SPRINGFIELD Ill Sept 13 — Lieutenant Peary is branded as "a mean contemptible overbearing grafter" by Dr John A Vincent of Springfield former member of the Illinois Legislature and former Mayor of Springfield. Dr Edward A Vincent now dead accompanied Peary on his first expedition to the pole. On his return he told his father that Peary had no regard for his men and treated them as slaves. "My son told me that Peary was the meanest man he ever knew" said Dr John A Vincent today

In explaining why he called Peary a grafter Dr Vincent said

"Because he made my son pay him $1000 for the privilege of going on the polar expedition. The late Dr Edward A Vincent left Springfield sixteen years ago in search of the pole. He was the physician and surgeon of the Peary party

"After my son had made arrangements for the trip Peary demanded $1000 for the privilege" continued Vincent "Of course it was too late to back out and the amount was paid

I have no doubt that others were fleeced in the same manner. I know Dr Edward Vincent paid the money for I assisted him by advancing $400

It was on this trip that Miss Marie Peary was born and Dr Edward Vincent attended Mrs Peary

BULLETS FLY IN FEUD; HORSE IS SHOT

SHOOT UNTIL THEIR CARTRIDGES ARE GONE

Truce is Declared Until More Ammunition Can Be Secured

SAN JOSE Sept 13 — A feud of the Kentucky brand with all the sanguinary accompaniment of whizzing rifle slugs and spectacular flourishing of pocket artillery by the participants, exists up in the sparcely settled Red Mountain district this side of the Alameda county line

From reports, the sheriff will have to hasten to the turbulent section or the corner will be in full exercise of his mournful official duties

QUARREL OVER GATE

The sanguinary conditions prevailing up there are due to a dispute involving two settlers Martin Fenton and George Frost over the hanging of a gate that bars the county road

Frost placed the provoking gate across the county road which passes over his land and Fenton objected to the obstruction

Fenton who is supported by several other settlers in his protest, attempted to remove the obstruction one day last week and Frost appeared upon the scene to defend his gate

BULLETS BEGIN TO FLY

A heated discussion ensued and Frost made a slurring remark concerning Fenton and the latter grabbed a gun from a bystander and began opening fire upon his insulter, who anticipating his intent fled for his cabin and there secured a rifle

Entrenching himself behind a breast works of rocks the gate owner renewed hostilities at long range. The bullets whizzed through the air both going and coming and after running out of ammunition an armistice was temporarily declared to last until more could be obtained. The casualties of the first skirmish were confined to the killing of a horse belonging to a settler named Wm O'Rourke

Having acquired a taste for war ammunition has been sent for and hostile activities are promised between Frost and the Fenton faction unless the gate comes down which Frost declares will not occur while the sun is in the heavens and he has a cartridge

TO GIVE COOK GREAT RECEPTION

Supporters Hint at "Mysterious Letter" Which Will Uphold Their Side

NEW YORK Sept 13 — The final arrangements for the reception to Dr Cook when he arrives here September 21 are being made today. The executive committee of the Arctic Club of America promises that the demonstration will be no less than the one the explorer received when he landed in Copenhagen

Cook's supporters showed some of their hand today when they gave out the import of the so-called "mysterious letter" between Rudolph Francke Cook's man and Mrs Peary. They explained that they gave out the information because it refuted the indirect statement that Mrs Peary had been asked to send money to Mrs Cook. This letter made charges that Peary had taken furs belonging to Dr Cook

PROSECUTOR BELIEVES LANE MAY BE INNOCENT

There is a possibility that the case against C H Lane a contracting electrician of Melrose accused of encouraging boys to steal fixtures from houses in course of construction and sell their loot to him may never be tried. He was before Judge Brown in the criminal department of the Superior Court this morning and Chief Deputy District Attorney Phil M Carey announced to the court that he had been making some investigation which might result in the discovery of evidence that would exculpate the man. He therefore asked for a two weeks' continuance of the case in order that he could finish his inquiries. Judge Brown set the case for September 28, for trial at which time the action may be dismissed without prejudice to the accused man

MYSTERY VEILS CAUSE OF SHOOTING, WHICH ENDS IN WOUNDING TWO AND DEATH TO ONE

ACCIDENT, IS CHILD'S VERSION

Husband Sends Bullets Into Wife and Child and Ends His Life

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—According to Irma Levy, 16 year old daughter of Ferdinand Levy, who committed suicide yesterday after dangerously wounding his wife and five year old daughter, the tragedy was based upon an accident. Her father, the girl says, was handling an automatic revolver when it was accidentally discharged, the first bullet striking his wife and the second tearing a portion of the little girl's brain away. When Levy realized what had occurred, his daughter asserts, he announced that he intended to kill himself and did so in spite of Irma's frantic struggles to prevent his using the weapon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Charlotte Levy and her five year old daughter Marian are lying in a serious condition at the Central Emergency hospital as the result of the awful tragedy enacted by the husband and father, Ferdinand Levy, a liquor dealer, before the eyes of his three year old son yesterday afternoon.

The suicide of the father which followed the shooting has left Irma Levy, the fifteen year old daughter, to look after her little brother and to bear the brunt of the sadness which has been cast over the little family.

CONDITION HOPEFUL

Throughout the long night she watched by the bedside of her mother and sister, glancing appealingly at the nurses and physicians as they tiptoed in and out. Mrs. Levy and the little girl have both been shot in the head, and while the wounds are extremely dangerous their condition this morning was hopeful.

Dr. Cunill, acting chief surgeon of the hospital service, is extremely interested in the case and is watching the progress of the patients with great care.

Between her sobs this morning Irma Levy tried to tell as best she could what she knew of the fearful deed which had been so near her yesterday.

KNEW OF NO MOTIVE

She was asked whether there was any motive for the crime but maintained positively she could think of none.

"Oh, there were so happy together," she said piteously. "They loved each other so much. My father was always looking out after mother; he was always as attentive and fond as he could be. He couldn't stand liquor, however, and one glass of whisky would do him harm."

But at this juncture of her story the girl was asked for her mother and tiptoeing into the ward to lean [illegible] and listen to the whispered words of her stricken parent. When she returned she could scarcely speak for the choking sobs, but repeated that she [illegible] nothing to account for the tragedy save that her father was crazed from liquor or worried into a frenzy by business cares.

TELLS OF SHOOTING

The girl was [illegible] look in her [illegible] when her father [illegible] fired two bullets [illegible] she [illegible] in and told [illegible] then.

When she went in the parlor her little sister and mother were lying in pools of blood and her baby brother Robert was leaning over the prostrate form of the former. The room was literally a shambles and when the stewards arrived in the ambulance from the Central Emergency hospital the horrible scene turned them sick even though they are accustomed to the sight of blood and crime in all its ghastliness.

Numerous friends had been keeping the wires busy to the Central Emergency hospital inquiring as to the condition of the stricken mother and daughter.

The complainant is Dr. Cornet, who alleges that he lost $100.

Dunphy appeared in company with Attorney Meredith, counsel for Miss Jennie Dunphy, his guardian, and he stood with a smile on his face during the proceedings.

CONWAY'S BAND WARMLY GREETED

State Fair Week at Idora Park Promises to Be a Great Success

Conway band devotees who gathered at Idora Park yesterday to hear the two spirited concerts and the numerous free attractions were treated to many surprises, for the management of the park has arranged for this week an exceptional program.

Among the newcomers who won applause were Clayton Jinkins and Jasper. The three are burlesquers of the highest class and kept the crowds in roars of laughter by their funny antics. They give an imitation of a rural circus which is indeed unique. Jasper plays the part of a mule. As he is the real article he enacts that role to perfection.

The Holtzmule family of aerialists won applause with their marvelous work upon the double trapeze. They are athletes of the first class and present many new and difficult stunts upon the aerial [illegible].

She stated that she had not informed her father of the original occurrence because of the threat of her assailant to kill her.

Last night a policeman was sent to 1339 Nineteenth avenue, where the man was hiding, according to the girl's statement. As the patrolman knocked at the front door, Maltedo escaped over the back fence. He was seen by the officer, who fired five shots at him. Maltedo escaped.

SCIENTIST THINKS BOTH ARE WRONG

Frenchman Declares Conditions in Arctic Region Makes Reckoning Difficult

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Raymond Lestonnat, a member of the superior council of navigation, said today that he thought the difficulties of ascertaining a position in high polar latitudes made it likely both Commander Peary and Dr. Cook were in error. The delicacy of the recording instruments and the fact that the excessive cold makes it necessary to handle them with muffled fingers together with the refraction of the rays of the sun make accurate use of the instruments almost impossible.

Lestonnat said he thought a dash to the pole had little scientific value. The real secrets were to be found at the magnetic pole, where a study of conditions might furnish possible indications regarding the properties of the globe.

YOUTHFUL HIGHWAYMEN HOLD UP TWO MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Nicholas Pullus, an engineer on the Transport Thomas, was returning from a dance at 77 Harrison street in company with a young woman named Miss Virginia, when he was suddenly attacked by a gang of six hoodlums who threw him to the ground, kicked him, tore off his coat containing $160, a United States inspector's license, and his engineer's commendations and left him lying on the pavement.

A few moments later Neagle F. Ingram was attacked apparently by the same gang who pummelled him severely but did not succeed in robbing him owing to the fact that he struck one of them and made his escape.

JEWELER AND WIFE ARE FOLLOWED BY THUGS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—G. H. Radke of the well known jewelry firm of Radke & Company, in company with his wife last night at 10:30 o'clock walked along the great highway and Mrs. Radke wore a lot of jewelry which was somewhat conspicuous and which shone in the soft light. Two men, one tall and the other short, a careful description of whom has been given to the police, passed them scrutinizing both closely. Instead of proceeding on their way the men turned and followed the couple. Mrs. Radke took fright and as quickly as possible both hastened to a street car, telling the incident to Policeman Harold A. Thorup.

SIMPLE CEREMONY MARKS E. H. HARRIMAN'S FUNERAL

Employes at Arden, Villagers and Prominent Financiers Mingle at Services in Country Church.

ARDEN, N. Y., Sept. 13.—All that is mortal of the great colossus of American activities, the autocrat of nearly fifty thousand miles of railway, the chieftain of an army of employes greater in number than the legions that upheld the might and power of the Caesars, the most conspicuous figure in the world's eyes, lies beneath a simple mound of earth in the Ramapo Hills.

The ceremonies attending the interment of the body of E. H. Harriman yesterday were simple and as devoid of ostentation as those accompanying the burial of the villagers of the country hereabout.

MAN MET MAN

Those famous in Wall street finances and the business associates of the deceased came on the earlier trains to pay the last tribute of respect to the man who had towered above them all.

The most prominent part of the ceremonies was taken by the men who knew him best as a country squire and master of the great estate which covers 41,000 acres of hill and valley. His general superintendent, his master carpenter, his master mason and the managers and assistant managers of his dairies, his farms and his trotting stables bore his coffin.

PRIVACY RESERVED

Elaborate precautions were taken to preserve the privacy of the afternoon service. Several score of employes aided by a number of policemen guarded all the roads over which the funeral procession passed and kept watch at intervals of twenty yards around the paten of woods which includes the Harriman burial plot.

The first service was holy communion celebrated at 10 o'clock in the morning by the Rev. J. Holmes McGuiness for Mrs. Harriman and her children at their home on Tower Hill. At 11 o'clock came a public memorial service at St. John's Church for the employes of the farm and parishioners who on account of a lack of space were unable to attend the funeral service later. The Harriman pews were left vacant. Mrs. Charles D. Simons, Mr. Harriman's sister, her husband, two daughters and Orlando H. Harriman, a brother, were the only relatives present.

BORNE TO CHURCH

It was 3:30 o'clock when the casket, one mass of lillies of the valley set in green foliage crowned with a great cluster of crimson roses, was borne to the waiting hearse without. The cortege then took up its way towards the little church.

Eight carriages followed the hearse from Arden House. The first carried Mrs. Harriman with her two unmarried daughters, Mary and Carol, and her sons Walter Averill and Roland. Mrs. Robert L. Gerry, the married daughter, was in the next carriage. Others in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Simons, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Charles Peabody, Judge Robert S. Lovett and Dr. W. G. Lyle.

THE CEREMONIES

Arriving at the church the casket was carried to the altar by eight bearers clad in black and wearing skull caps. The regular funeral service of the Episcopal church was conducted by Dr. McGuiness, assisted by the Rev. G. Nelson Archdeacon of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. A male quartet and the choir of Grace Church, New York, sang "Abide With Me" and "There Is a Land of Pure Delight," Mr. Harriman's favorite hymns.

EXALTED AMONG MEN

In his funeral address Rev. J. Holmes McGuiness said: "Private and comparatively small as this gathering is, I feel upon me a power of both of audience and subject which seems to weigh me down. The lesson of morality read to us here is not to us alone but to the whole country. For this is not a thing done in a corner, this is not a burial affecting a few relatives and friends. Here we have one of the foremost men of all the world struck down. There is not an American whom this event does not reach.

"Where is the man that wielded such power as this man who is taken from us? What a tower of strength he was in the greatest undertakings and enterprises that overspread our land. Rightly he received the tribute of admiration which the American people gladly pay to whoever has done best what every one desires to do.

"As to our friend's private life—most of you who are here need not that I should recall it. But on this occasion I know you would have me speak of that which your own hearts know only too well. You know him as he walked over these hills and up and down this valley—simple, unaffected, gentle and kind. In our sorrow he took us by the hand, in our joys he rejoiced with us, and in every event he showed himself a friend. Of this worldly achievements and distinction we knew nothing from his lips. From sources entirely outside of himself we had to gain our knowledge of this part of his life. He could always be approached by us and when we needed advice his best thought was directed to us.

OF SIMPLE FAITH

"You need not have me dwell upon the religious side of his nature. At the time of my arrival here he sent to every man employed on the place the following letter:

"Arden, Orange county, N. Y.,
October 13, 1895.
"To the Men Residents of Arden—The lack of interest on your part is discouraging to those who provide the means whereby you can have the important privilege of attending church services.

"Fair weather Christians are of no more use in a community than the same sort of laborer — milkman, dairyman, farmer, carpenter, blacksmith, railroad man—or any kind of a fair weather man.

"It seems to me that your responsibility does not end with yourself but extends to those over whom you have influence.

"The opportunity is given your children for religious training at Sunday school and the church for yourselves and families.

"It is not a favor conferred on any one else than yourselves if you avail yourselves of it.

"I hope by next Sunday that you will evidence more interest by attending the service. Yours faithfully,
"E. H. HARRIMAN."

HIS TRUST IN THE INFINITE

"His realization of the tremendous importance of regular attendance upon divine worship was illustrated not only in the sending out of that letter but in his constant personal practice when his health permitted. Many times within the last few years he conquered the intense pain of his infirmities to come to this church. He was also a most faithful communicant. At the time when his daughter was prostrated by a serious illness and during the crisis which followed he sent me a note in his own handwriting requesting prayer for her. Time and time again he declared to me his firm belief in the teachings of our Holy Father. The mighty power which he wielded by his personal influence never obscured in his own mind the need of absolute reliance upon the hand that governs the universe.

"We are proud to know that he achieved distinction without violating the minutest principle of the great laws of morality. To those who maligned and misrepresented him he showed no resentment but was willing always to allow time to prove his case and the proof never failed. The pettiness of jealous competition never for an instant embittered him. He remained throughout all those trying years sweet tempered, amiable, lovable."

BORNE TO THE GRAVE

The service lasted but twenty minutes. Then the bearers carried the casket to the burial plot 100 yards up the hill.

There was no room inside the burial ground for more than fifteen or twenty besides the mourners and the two officiating clergymen. Others stood in the road outside and looked over the stone wall.

Several hundred Harriman employes and their families stood with bared heads outside the church during the service and gathered at a respectful distance from the grave during the interment.

It was 5 o'clock when Archdeacon Nelson took a handful of earth and sprinkling it over the bed of lilies that hid the metal casket consigned the body of Edward H. Harriman to the earth on the spot he loved best. Mrs. Harriman and her children drove home immediately after the ceremony.

FLOWERS DISTRIBUTED

Upon arriving home Mrs. Harriman directed the distribution of the avalanche of flowers that had arrived by every train, the tributes of friends and associates, among the families of Arden and Turner as a remembrance of the day.

GREAT ONES PRESENT

Outside of the villagers only those receiving invitation from the family were present at the obsequies. Among them were the following: Mrs. John C. Neilson, John Carpenter, Charles Carpenter, William Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Har, Mrs. Frank Stevens, Mrs. Emily Onderdonk, Mrs. David Murray, Miss Catherine Harriman, Miss Helene Harriman, Dr. and Mrs. Mercer, B. Bishop Nichols Delivers Eulogy for E. H. Harriman at Trinity Church

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The memorial services at Trinity Episcopal Church yesterday afternoon to the late E. H. Harriman were held before a congregation the largest ever assembled within its walls.

The great doors were thrown open at 3 o'clock and for the following half hour thousands filed in and took their places in the pews and stood in the aisles and filled the vestibule to the outer street.

CHANCEL DECORATIONS

The front of the chancel rail and the space between the rail and the altar were decorated with Scaforthia elegans and other potted palms. The front tier of pews in the middle aisle was reserved for the railroad officials. David W. Horsburgh acted as usher for that section of the church.

Dr. Clampett, the rector, and Bishop Nichols officiated at the services and the hymns suitable to the occasion were sung by the full choir of male and female voices.

OPENING CEREMONIES

The first lesson was read by Dr. Clampett. It was taken from the fifteenth chapter of the First Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians: "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept."

Mrs. Gish sang "I Mourn as a Dove" and this was the only deviation from the funeral ritual.

HARRIMAN EULOGY

Right Rev. Bishop Nichols delivered the panegyric, saying in part:

"We have joined here in the same service said by the Church over the lowliest and the highest alike of her members and with the same service that was said at the dead man's home. There is a propriety in having service on the Pacific Coast, because Mr. Harriman was a member of this communion and a part of his boyhood was spent in California.

HARRIMAN'S BOYHOOD

The speaker went on to say that Rev. Orlendo Harriman, the father of the dead railroad king, organized the Episcopal Church in Stockton in August 1850. He then went to Sacramento and officiated there for two years. Harriman was then 4 years old and [illegible] was with his father at that time. The railroad magnate himself [illegible] years ago when the [illegible] building the new church in Sacramento recognized that sentimental association in a substantial way in the building of that church.

"To cut the cameo of that extraordinary man would require materials and precision of tools not at the speaker's command," he said.

"I speak to many this afternoon to whom Mr. Harriman was a great chief who held more power in the railroad world than any other man. I doubt if any of the Caesars could touch the nerve centers of the world as Mr. Harriman's death has touched it today.

SERVICE OF FEALTY

"A great chief may make his system work by fear and awe like the emperors of old, but it was recognized that Mr. Harriman's friends worked for him through fealty."

The Bishop said that he once asked Mr. Harriman whether he thought it would be a physical possibility for one man to manage all the transportation of this country. "Do you think the one brain could handle it all with its perplexities and problems?" Mr. Harriman turned in a moment and said: "Yes, he could do it if [illegible] the present managers for his lieutenants."

The Bishop then spoke of road construction as having gone hand in hand with the military achievements of the Romans. "The fame of a great road builder who lived three centuries before St. Peter gave his name to the great dome in Rome still lived and is perpetuated in that magnificent specimen of his work, the Appian way, over which wheels are turning today. The fame of Appius Claudius has lasted for twenty two centuries.

HIS GREAT WORK

"[illegible] equal fame [illegible] steel [illegible] Atlantic [illegible] Pacific," said the Bishop, "and made these lines of polished steel pulsating with activity. Why should we not eternalize great railway constructionists by giving their names to the great highways? Why should not this entire system, reaching from ocean to ocean, be called the Harriman way, and perpetuate his name as the name of the builder of the Appian way in Rome?"

RAILROAD REPRESENTATION

In addition to the [illegible] of the Southern Pacific Company there were present a [illegible] conductors, engineers and switchmen from this city and Oakland. Among the officials at the services were E. E. Calvin, vice president and general manager; T. H. [illegible]man, Charles S. Fee, passenger [illegible] manager; James Horsburg Jr., general passenger agent; Louis W. Horsburgh, auditor freight accounts; A. W. Foster; W. H. Scott, assistant general manager; James Tucker, J. F. Dunn, [illegible] P. Kelly, [illegible] I. Button, [illegible] Dr. Frank K. Ainsworth, manager Southern Pacific Hospital, and Captain John H. Rinder. Dr. J. Crosby, a cousin of E. H. Harriman, was the only relative present.

HOLDS [illegible] ROBS SAL[OON] AND SINGER

Frank Figone Laughs During Robbery and is Given Special Warning

THIEF CALM WHILE ENGAGED IN CRIME

Gentle Mannered Criminal Carefully Disguises Self for Deed

Enveloped in a long automobile [illegible] which completely hid his figure [illegible] armed and masked robber entered the Delay saloon, corner of Twenty fifth street and Broadway, at 10:30 o'clock last night and held up the bartender, Vincent Peters, and Frank Figone, California's well known bass singer, who had just become the happy father of a baby girl. In all the highwayman secured $72.

At the time of the robbery there were five or six persons in the rear room, but so quietly and so quickly was the hold up accomplished that they did not become aware of what had transpired until it was all over.

QUIET AND CALM

The footpad with revolver drawn quietly entered by a side door. With a voice very soft and very velvety he stepped up to the bartender, who had a tray in his hand ready to serve drinks to the customers in the rear of the place, and quietly requested him to put the tray down and put up his hands. The bartender was compelled to obey. Figone was not even then aware that the place was being held up, his back being toward the robber. The masked stranger stepped up to the singer and with a suavity that was almost courtly requested him to elevate his hands. The barrel of the revolver rested in the vicinity of the singer's vocal chords and he promptly complied with the request.

The bartender and Figone were then asked by the lone robber to accompany him to an alcove where they would be screened from observation. The two victims were compelled to comply. Peters was relieved of $ [illegible] representing his week's wages, while Figone contributed a $5 gold piece and some silver.

EMPTIES TILL

With the same modulated voice as before the thief requested them to keep their hands in the air and went to the till where he obtained $40.

On his way out the footpad approached Figone again, possibly because the singer was laughing, and put the pistol barrel at his temple and informed the singer of the fact that it was a revolver.

"Well, don't I know it," replied Figone. "My hands are in the air."

"I do not want you to follow me too quickly," replied the highwayman, "and take this means of letting you know of my desire."

With a parting injunction not to follow him the robber backed through the doorway and was lost in the darkness.

WORE LONG MASK

A good description of the robber could not be obtained. The long [illegible] he wore completely prevented any one ascertaining the color of his clothing even. The mask he wore was a long affair coming down below his chin and resting on his breast.

He was a small man weighing possibly 145 pounds. He did not display the slightest nervousness and from the fact that he operated in a manner very much like the robber who held up the Alter saloon on San Pablo avenue on two occasions the police believe that he may be the same person. On each of these occasions the masked man was of the same personified not showing the slightest trace of nervousness, although being alert and observing every move made.

Ex-Senator Clark Praises Him as Factor in Western Development

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The following tribute to the career of E. H. Harriman from Ex-Senator Clark of Montana was given out here today:

"Mr. Harriman occupied a position in the financial and railroad world absolutely unique. With an ambition that knew no bounds he had the sagacity and courage to work out his schemes to a successful termination, and was a factor in the development of the great [illegible] of the west he stood without a peer. His extraordinary mind seemed to grasp the most intricate problems and he solved questions in a broad and comprehensive way."

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Charles Lochran of 963 Center street, Oakland, reported to the police that he was drinking with a strange man in Duhne's saloon, Twenty-second and Mission streets, and that the latter rode with him to [illegible] and Market streets and that later he missed his gold watch.

Pastors and Committee Men Give Talks From Church Pulpits

BERKELEY Sept 13—The total amount pledged by the citizens of Berkeley towards the $100 000 needed to build the new Y. M. C. A. building at noon today was $43,600. The citizens committee obtained $24,226 of this and the young business men's committee obtained the $19 375. The subscriptions from Saturday noon until today noon amounted to $9725

BERKELEY Sept 13—Everybody in Berkeley will be given an opportunity to subscribe to the $100 000 building fund for the Y M C A. It has been announced that positively no one will be slighted in the campaign which now is being conducted by the two committees of one hundred each. The purpose in having such large committees was that each and every resident of the college town should receive a personal appeal in the eight days allotted for obtaining pledges.

When the workers gathered around the luncheon table Saturday they reported their successes and the total amount pledged then was $33 875. In the afternoon following it was ascertained that no less than $25 000 was added to this. This brings the total to more than half the necessary amount and almost guarantees that all of it will be obtained by Saturday evening.

TALKS IN THE CHURCHES

In almost all of the churches yesterday the pastors delivered addresses on the campaign for funds and urged their flocks to do all in their power to help the good work along. Just prior to these addresses members of the two campaign committees who had been assigned to the various churches made short appeals to the congregations. They outlined the methods of the campaign and asked every one to contribute no matter how small their offering might be. "Every little bit helps" is the motto of the committeemen.

Since the campaign started the fund has grown with leaps and bounds. Of this cannot [illegible] daily additions [illegible] smaller [illegible] subscribers [illegible] and it is [illegible] that when [illegible] one in Berkeley [illegible] it will [illegible] contribute toward [illegible]

CREDIT DUE TO WOMEN

No small share of the [illegible] campaign must [illegible] Berkeley. Although [illegible] cited subscriptions [illegible] been responsible [illegible] pledged. They are attending to the wants of the inner man every day at the [illegible] so that the workers can go forth with renewed vigor to gather in the [illegible] dollars.

The women have not stopped at this but have made their influence felt at many a tea table throughout the city. They have caused an almost endless discussion of the excellent work and many a business man who has not had time from his affairs to think about the fund campaign, has made a contribution because his wife or daughter has suggested it. In short the women are lending their moral support to the cause and it has been an important factor.

URGES HEARTY SUPPORT

Cordial indorsement of the good work carried on by the Young Men's Christian Association was given by the Rev. Dr L. L. Parsons, rector of St. Mark's parish in his sermon yesterday morning. Dr Parsons also expressed hearty approval of the campaign to raise $100 000 for a suitable building for the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. In all these efforts, the speaker declared, the good people of Berkeley ought to stand by the promoters of the plan and accord the movement such support that the money needed shall be forthcoming without delay. Dr. Parsons pointed out that one admirable effect of the campaign is to unite all the people of the community in supporting a worthy object, and this unification is bound to result in a better feeling that of itself is worth all the effort and expense involved in the present undertaking.

President G P Ocheltree of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce gave expression of the sentiment that prevails in commercial circles of Berkeley in regard to putting up the new Y. M. C. A. building. He declared that those who hold the real and substantial interests of the community at heart must support such an institution and that they do support it is proved by their acts. The Chamber of Commerce stands of record in favor of the Y M C A and members of that organization are for most in the present campaign. The Chamber of Commerce is glad to place its seal of approval on the movement. It is recognized that the young men of the community ought to be the most valuable assets yet it is true that [illegible] liabilities instead of assets on [illegible]

BELIEVES IT WILL SUCCEED

The Y M C A is organized [illegible] for the purpose of [illegible] men to acquire and [illegible] good habits of life. This work [illegible] the support of every right thinking man and woman. He recognized that the work of raising the fund is not an easy task but he was confident that success would crown the efforts of the different committeemen who had agreed to solicit funds for this worthy object.

DR MILES ADDRESS

The list of the [illegible] the pastors of the various [illegible] this city yesterday is illustrated by the talk of the Rev H P Miles in the First Congregational Church. He said in part:

"We have banished from our city in the saloon the worst single destroyer of men. Yet our work is but half done. We must replace the vicious social center by one as wholesome as the old was vile. We must have here a worthy attractive center to which boys and men will turn whose touch on every side of a man's being shall mean life as the saloon puts the touch of death on his body mind and spirit.

"We can put into this institution as many as we will of our ideals for our boys and our men. The movement now on foot for an adequate Y. M. C. A. building will decide what helps are to be thrown round our boys and young men. It goes behind that and puts to the test our care to have our young men grow up undefiled in body mind and heart and so trained that they offer strong [illegible] lives to the service that waits them.

"For their sakes let our Y M C A. have an equipment worthy of the task to which it sets itself."

Rat Kills Rattlesnake In Desperate Encounter

A common house rat fought thirteen rounds with a rattlesnake with thirteen rattles in a barn on the ranch of Manuel Gomes, near Niles, yesterday. It killed the rattler in the last round by getting a strangle hold on it and retaining it until the reptile lay dead.

Twelve times the snake coiled, rattled and struck at the rat. Each time the little rodent dodged and saved itself. The rattler was coiling for the thirteenth stroke when the rat dashed in and sank its long sharp teeth into the snake's neck until they met and locked. The rattler reared itself and thrashed wildly about the place in its effort to free itself.

TERRIBLY BEATEN

While that thrashing was going on the rat suffered terrible punishment. Not for an instant, however, did it loosen its grip. It seemed to know that to do so would spell death for it, and it was not ready to die. When finally the rodent had finished its poisonous foe it let go its hold, backed off and seemed well satisfied with what it had done.

The fight was not due to accident. It was set up by Gomes and his brother Joseph. They watched it from start to finish, and after the rat had won they asserted that they would match the victor against all comers in the rat or the snake line. Joseph Gomes is a rancher in the Black Hills district of Contra Costa county and not far from the Alameda county line. He took the rattler in a box to his brother's farm after he had caught it in his chicken house and narrowly had escaped being bitten.

WATCH THE FIGHT.

Manuel Gomes had caught a large rat in a barrel trap. He suggested that the snake and the rat be permitted to fight to the death. The men thought that the rattler would make short work of the rat and swallowed it. In Manuel's barn there is a small drying room, which has no crevices in the walls or floor. The rat and the rattler were turned loose in that room and the two Gomeses watched them from the trap door in the loft above.

When the rat had circled around the room and discovered there was no way it could escape it dashed at the snake whenever it was uncoiled. The rattler rattled and the snake squeaked viciously. The fight raged all over the room, until finally the rat got the hold that strangled the snake with the unlucky thirteen rattles.

MONSTER RATTLER.

Rattlesnakes are not common in this section of the State, although occasionally they turn up among the poultry. Joseph Gomes says that the one he caught was a huge reptile for a rattler and the first one that had been captured in the Black Hills district for several years so far as his knowledge goes. It was because of this fact and the size of the snake that prompted Joseph to risk capturing the reptile and taking it all the way to his brother's ranch for him to see.

SEEKS IMMEDIATE RELIEF FOR BANK

Raphael Urges Quick Action in Affairs of California Trust Company

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The plans of the [illegible] directors to reorganize the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company [illegible] to the stockholders and depositors of the bank from Julius Raphael, New York, who pleads for speedy action in [illegible] matters [illegible]. In the reorganization syndicate, headed by H. P. Wilson of 45 Broad street, New York, secretary of the Great Western [illegible] Company, and [illegible] with many Eastern financial interests [illegible]. MELBA SAID TO BE IN DIRE NEED

Famous Singer Now Appears in Places She Once Passed By

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Mme. Nellie Melba, the prima donna, according to [illegible] reports, is financially in very low water. [illegible] was in such great need of money a little time ago that she decided to give a long series of concerts in Australia at half the price she formerly received in the same towns. This [illegible] which has just ended was [illegible] extended [illegible] visits to small [illegible] country towns [illegible] passed over by less distinguished artists.

Little sympathy in this country has been extended to Melba in her misfortunes. She is reputed to have shown an exceedingly sharp temper while here. Melba has drawn large royalties on the use of her name for business purposes, and was the first famous operatic artist to make a handsome income from singing for the manufacture of gramophone records.

Melba's personal extravagance is the [illegible] cause of her reduced fortune. At the pinnacle of her fame she traveled about with a retinue of attendants and servants, spending money with reckless prodigality to gratify every whim.

Hugh Lloyd Gives Star Act Among Many Good Turns at Bell

HUGH LLOYD, "King of the Elastique," at Bell Theater.

This week's bill at the Bell Theater includes nine features, half or more of which are positive headliners, the splendid program serving to delight the thousands of Bell patrons and maintaining the high standard of attractions this [illegible] is bringing to the people of Oakland.

Hugh Lloyd, who has most tightrope and aerial artists beaten to a standstill, is the best feature on the bill. Some of his feats are really astounding, and the wonder of it is that they are executed without any assistance from balancing pole or umbrella, and very, very rarely does he need to [illegible] his hands to [illegible] his perfect poise. Besides being skillful to a remarkable degree, he is so graceful that it's a pleasure to watch him. The last of his feats includes backward somersaults, jumping the rope and through the [illegible] and finally he takes a backward somersault while playing the violin.

"JOLLY TAR"

Tom Bateman shares the honors of the bill with his singing and dancing. He appears first in street costume, sings a couple of catchy songs that are given with a vim and spirit, afterward changing to the costume of a sailor in which he sings and recites a pathetic shipwreck story that wins him insistent recalls. He concludes his creditable performance with an exhibition of excellent dancing and rapid fire rope skipping. His sobriquet of the Jolly Tar is borne out for he radiates [illegible] and jollity while his happy laughter is contagious.

Emily and Jessie Dodd, with a capable company, offer a unique comedy one act playlet, "Dutton's Claim." The story reveals the doings of Cupid in the Nevada mining district with a taste of tragedy and in a unlance of comedy of an enjoyable brand. The popular duettists Harvard & Cornell present their original comedy singing oddity, "The Actress and the Dude," in which are introduced several excellently rendered vocal numbers; the character Italian song by Harvard being the best effort of the little skit.

BELL BALANCED BILL

There's a dainty singing and dancing duo, Goodhue & Burgess, who prove popular exponents of the light and airy vaudeville hits. Their special scenic equipment with the summer house and the cozy hammock lend an air of reality to their singing specialties. A little illusion and some sleight of hand work by Roltaire amuses and mystifies, and Josh Renno in black face comedy monologue songs and an acrobatic dance gets a good hand. Two reels of pictures on the Belliscope are good enough to class as features in a bill that is well balanced and a big winner for the Bell.

MILLINERY OPENING

A Millinery Opening is always an occasion of much anxiety to the management of this store.

Having conscientiously exerted our best skill and experience in making our selections, we know how thorough and sincere have been our efforts to please our patrons.

But will our friends be fully appreciative of our diligence? Will our selections please them? Will our painstaking efforts go for naught—or for everything? Will the verdict be one of approval?

Those are the questions which make our suspense so great at opening time. Today our trepidations have vanished—the tense moments have passed—we've gained another triumph—won another victory.

We never had such a successful opening—never had our Hats praised so enthusiastically—never had such a fine business.

The unanimous opinion of those who visited us today is that we have the most beautiful Hats—the most original Hats—the most becoming Hats—the most practical Hats—and the most reasonably priced Hats ever on display in Oakland.

THIRD TRY AT SUICIDE WINS

Motorman Matthiesen Ends Trouble With Big Dose of Cocaine

John Matthiesen, a motorman, after two unsuccessful attempts to end his life in the past three months, commited suicide by swallowing cocaine on 11th street between Washington and Clay at 1 o'clock last night. He was found writhing in mortal agony by special policeman Heffnan and hurried to the Receiving hospital. He died this morning.

Matthiesen, who was but 27 years old, was known as a hard drinker. On the night of June 6, after a quarrel with his wife, he attempted to shoot himself, firing a bullet into his shoulder in front of a house at 517 Linden street.

About a month afterward, on July 8, having recovered from his wound, he swallowed the contents of a bottle of [illegible] drops at his home 826 Twenty-second street, but by prompt medical treatment his life was saved.

Matthiesen was well known to the police and had been arrested several times, once on a charge of defrauding chauffeurs by paying them for automobile fare with bogus checks. He is survived by his widow, with whom he has not been living for some time.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL PAGE

President

...or Gillett's Political ...om.

...vernor Gillett is displaying his usual per...ity in refusing to declare himself a candidate ...another term, or announce that he will not be ...candidate. He resolutely declines to make a premature announcement or be committed in advance of the proper time to a plan of action which ensuing circumstances might compel him to change. Several attempts have recently been made to get him to say whether he will or will not be a candidate for re-election, but he has invariably put the question aside on the ground that the time for its discussion has not yet arrived. The latest utterance in response to the efforts to make him commit himself states his position with unmistakable clearness. In the spring he will tell the people whether he desires another term or not. He says:

"I will not say that I am going to be a candidate for Governor, and I will not announce that I am not going to be a candidate. It is far too early for announcements of that kind. The spring will be quite soon enough. I will make up my mind then, and then I will announce my intentions. I will not put myself in the position of being compelled to trim my every act to every political breeze."

This leaves no room for misunderstanding. The Governor is right in refusing to be dragooned into a premature declaration, and he displays political sagacity in putting off any announcement of intention till next spring. In the spring of an election year the politicians begin to line up for the campaign as naturally as a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love, and then is the time for candidates to shy their castors in the ring and start the ball to rolling.

Were the Governor to declare himself a candidate now he would be hampered and embarrassed unnecessarily for several months in the performance of his official duties. His candidacy would be obtruded into the consideration of every application for appointment and petition for pardon. By putting the question of re-election entirely aside for the present the Governor saves himself from annoyance and keeps himself free from importunities which tend to keep his sense of duty from squaring with his political desires. Governor Gillett is doing well, giving the State a clean, efficient administration, and by that he will be judged in case he asks for re-election; and it is to his credit that he elects to confine himself strictly to business for the present instead of assuming the attitude of a candidate six months ahead of time. ...the meantime he is playing the best possible ...tics by attending strictly to the duties which ...people elected him to perform. In case he ... again that will be his highest claim to public ...or.

The comments on his death provoke the conclusion that E. H. Harriman was not such an undesirable citizen after all.

That eighty-eight Democratic plurality Heney received in the primary election is pretty slim and will not stand the test of the pure food law, but the Spreckels candidate holds to it with grim determination. He resents the suggestion of a recount with the proper pride of a man who is determined to reform the community even if the ballot box has to be stuffed to do it. However, ballot box stuffing goes naturally with jury-packing and confederating with thieves. And then the right of Rudolph Spreckels to control the District Attorney's office must be upheld at all hazards. Under the circumstances only the enemies of good government will complain about a few frauds in counting votes at a primary.

The net earnings of the steel trust for the last three months reached the enormous sum of $39,000,000. Yet the name is still spelled with a double "e."

The threat of the Southern counties to secede if required to pay their just proportion of State taxes is not to be taken seriously. If they object to paying their share of the expense of supporting the State government, they are not likely to be enamored with the prospect of paying the entire expense. And anyway, the secession talk is mere moonshine for the reason that the State cannot be divided without the consent of a majority of its inhabitants. What our Southern brethren really want is an arrangement whereby they will be permitted to fill all the lucrative offices and pay no taxes.

President Taft's trip to California will enable him to get valuable suggestions from the San Francisco Call, the Los Angeles Express, the Sacramento Bee and the Fresno Republican as to how the government should be run. Still there is small danger that the editorial sanctums of this State will be depleted to fill the President's cabinet.

The hot north wind wave which swept down the Sacramento valley yesterday, causing some physical discomfort to the inhabitants of the bay cities was aggravated undoubtedly by the forest fires raging in Napa, Sonoma, Trinity and Butte counties, the heated and burned-out air from which was driven south before the strong gale which at times reached a velocity of forty-five miles an hour. Fortunately no serious damage to grape and other fruit crops has been reported.

France's Naval Degradation.

According to the latest analysis, France has, within a few years, lost standing as a naval power, dropping from second to fourth or fifth rate position in the international scale. It was claimed a short while ago that the United States had gained the second position; but, if this country was ever legitimately entitled to that rank, it seems now to have been forced to surrender it to Germany, whose policy of naval development under the spur of the Kaiser's overpowering ambition is menacing Britain's claim to the supremacy of the sea.

The fall of the Clemenceau ministry was due to the exposure of the degeneracy of the French navy which has been brought about through a series of disasters to its several units, in recent times, as well as to governmental neglect. The recent inquiry into the status of the French navy which followed Clemenceau's sudden downfall is said to have revealed an appalling state of affairs in the navy in, not only the matter of ships, but also in their equipment of men, ammunition and other materials for effective service.

Under the administration of the affairs of the republic in late years the navy seems to have fallen into the same condition of degeneracy that the army was in at the fall of the third empire. In every vital branch of the service the French navy has, according to the report, fallen into a serious state of decadence.

The inquiry commission accuses the government with having as freely squandered the public moneys appropriated for the strengthening and equipment of the navy as marked the administration of the army toward the close of the reign of Napoleon III. Since the establishment of the republic in 1870 $2,000,000,000 has been spent on the navy and France has today no fleet, is the open charge made in the Chamber of Deputies, and it is alleged to be due to gross abuses and extravagance. Moreover, the most powerful vessels in the French navy are nondescripts whose actual value in war is uncertain. A crisis has therefore been reached in the history of France which will involve the most strenuous national effort to qualify her to protect her long seaboard.

The Horse Cannot Be Downed.

The value of the horse as a useful agent in the activities of human life was never more conspicuously demonstrated than it was in the work horse parade in San Francisco on Admission Day. Anybody who thinks that the automobile or any other contrivance which man may invent to perform the functions of a road vehicle is going to crowd the horse out of business should disabuse his mind of the thought at once. It was assumed by the opponents of railroading that it would consign the horse to innocuous desuetude. As a matter of fact, which has since been abundantly demonstrated, the advent of the locomotive opened new avenues for the employment of horses. When the bicycle was invented and came into general use it was predicted that the death knell of the horse had been sounded. Experience has proved the falsity of the prediction. Now that horseless vehicles are multiplying the false theory that the usefulness of the horse to man is to see its finish, is also getting its quietus, as illustrated by Thursday's demonstration across the bay. That city never could, at any previous stage in its history, have equaled the display of work horses it made in that parade. The horse has met successfully every mechanical competitor that has entered the field of transportation. Since the dawn of human history he has been man's most useful friend in the animal creation and he is there to stay.

Each day Commander Peary gives out a fresh announcement that Dr. Cook is a faker, but he is not so voluble in answering the specific charge that he plundered Dr. Cook's cache of furs and provisions and opened Dr. Cook's private letters. By charging Dr. Cook with being a faker Commander Peary does not acquit himself of being a thief.

These are the days when the Thanksgiving turkey begins to survey his swelling proportions with melancholy pride.

The stoppage of traffic for one minute on all Harriman lines yesterday as a mark of respect to the dead railroad magnate at the time his mortal remains were being deposited in the grave was a notable incident of the funeral ceremonies. Perhaps nothing could have been done to mark as impressively the magnitude of the great transportation system which Harriman developed through his genius.

Peary regarded it as "dishonorable conduct" for Dr. Cook to seek the North Pole knowing that Peary had decided to find it first. Naturally he regards as still more dishonorable in Dr. Cook to succeed in finding it.

It is anticipated that the Seattle Exposition will show a balance of profit to its credit at its close. If so, it will be a novelty among American expositions, for since and including the Columbian World's Fair at Chicago until the present time no exposition has been held anywhere in the United States up to date that has defrayed expenses, save in the solitary instance of the Mid-winter Fair of San Francisco, which left a margin of profit of approximately $40,000.

Ten-Hour Day for Women

The new law of Illinois limiting to ten hours the working day of women employed in mechanical establishments is a duplicate of the Oregon law held by the United States Supreme Court to be no unreasonable restriction on freedom of contract. The highest federal tribunal, in declaring the Oregon law constitutional pointed out that the trend among the legislatures and courts of the states is to enact and uphold laws of this sort for the protection of women as proper measures in the interests of the race. This movement is so general that it tends to equalize the conditions of competition among manufacturers in the different states.

Secretary Glenn of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association is quoted as saying that his organization will start a suit to enjoin the state factory inspector from enforcing this ten hour day law for women. According to Mr. Glenn, the suit will be brought in the name of a single manufacturer, but will be pushed as an association project.

It was to have been expected that some manufacturer would fight this law in the state courts, but opposition by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association would be rather a sad spectacle. In adopting new processes and methods in their factories practically all the members of this association have shown themselves progressive men. Their organization stood for progress in approving the passage of the state industrial commission's bill for safeguards on dangerous machinery and for healthful conditions in workshops, which goes into effect next January.

Do the members of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association approve of their secretary's course in placing them before the community as opponents of the ten-hour-day law for working women and girls?—Chicago News.

Topics Timely and Interesting

The startling assertion that 40 per cent of the children under eight in the London schools are addicted to the use of alcoholic liquor is made by the London Lancet, and has been confirmed by subsequent investigations made by a London paper. In one school, not in a notoriously degraded neighborhood, it was found that nearly 12 per cent of the babies under eight drank liquor daily, and that 24 per cent drank it occasionally—generally on Sunday. In another school only 5 children were found out of 318 who drank regularly, but 40 per cent imbibed occasionally. One little mother gave gin to her baby as a pacifier. "I don't drink it, but my baby does," she explained. From Vienna comes a still more startling report. Inquiries in that city disclosed the fact that over 32 per cent of the school children drank beer regularly, 11 per cent wine and 3½ per cent spirits. Similar conditions are said to prevail also in Holland.

The manager of the employment agency was used to hearing women in search of maids ask applicants all sorts of questions, but this matron made him mildly curious. Of fourteen girls in turn she had inquired: "Have you worked in a minister's family?" None of them had. "Too bad," said the matron to the manager. "None of these girls will do."

"May I ask," said the manager, "why you are anxious to know if these girls have worked in ministers' families?"

"Why, the fact is, we're very hard up just now," said the matron candidly; "I want a girl who knows how to economize, and those who have worked in clergymen's families, I've discovered, have learned that lesson."

It is not unlikely that commerce soon will bring to market the mixture of tea and flowers which was one of China's state secrets when the dowager empress held the reins of power. The empress was almost as famous for her tea as for her iron grip on the government. All guests at court were permitted to drink of the old woman's favorite brew, and tea experts tried to match the blend, after they had failed to worm the secret from servants in attendance on the empress. Every attempt, however, to produce as delicious a cup of tea failed, and it was not until after the empress' death that the secret leaked out. Now it is known the empress gave the remarkable delicacy to her tea by mixing with it dried honeysuckle and jasmine blooms. The tea itself was from the first pickings of the imperial plantations, and was the finest grown.

The proprietor of a large downtown barber shop has found it necessary to double his force of manicures, and says that at the present rate of business increase he will soon be compelled to put another booth in his place. He said that this did not show any increased desire on the part of his customers to keep their nails in good form, but rather the development of the manicure habit. "I would go right back to one nail doctor in a week," he said, "and that would eventually become a poor business, if I sent the girls away and took men in their stead. Our girls make from $15 to $20 a week. A man just as capable could not earn one-half that amount. That's the manicure business."

The opera which has been written with "The Sunken Bell" as a theme, is soon to have a companion. The prose of Gerhard Hauptmann's "Elga" has been converted into verse by the Baroness Martha Zobeltz and will form the libretto for an opera by that name. The composer, Leutval, is a young Hungarian, who came before the public a few years ago as the author of a symphony which was received with favor.

After a long visit in Maine, W. H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, has returned to Baltimore, firm in the belief that whiskey is scarce in the Pine Tree State and that stories to the contrary are base libels, circulated to discredit prohibition laws. "I was told in Portland," says Mr. Anderson, "that if I really wanted a drink I could find one, but I would have to go up back alleys through filth and amid slums to obtain it. This certainly does not agree with the statements that liquor can easily be obtained in Maine. During my whole stay in the state I saw only two drunken men."

Following the example of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy has placed copies of the Bible in the libraries of its best trains. In this respect, according to officials of the Chicago Bible Society, the American roads have followed the initiative taken by the Scotch railway companies. Backing them up is the Gideon Society, an organization of commercial travelers, which has promoted the general and free circulation of Bibles in hotels throughout the United States.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO THE OYSTER

The Chesapeake Bay oyster, at his best, belongs to the first aristocracy of delicatessen. He has the smooth, resilient corporation of a German comedian, the melting tenderness of Carroll county pie crust, and a flavor that has no parallel in all the world. In nutriment 100 Chesapeake oysters are equal to two barrels of potelds, four sacks of manganese, and a keg of phosphorus. Two hundred oysters are equal to 64 2-3 beefsteaks, counting in the shells, and to 52 1-2 without the shells. These same shells will make 6 yards of perfect roadway, 12 feet wide and 8 inches deep. Burned in a kiln they will make half a barrel of superior quicklime, which is sufficient to make 350 gallons of superfine whitewash, which is ample to whitewash 8 kitchens, 2 dining-rooms, 1 1-2 parlors, and 125 linear feet of barkyard fence. The same quicklime, dumped into ratholes, will kill 22,435 rats. Spread upon the soil, it will increase the yield of 8 bushels of wheat of from 18 to 23 bushels an acre, according to the rainfall. Mixed with water it will generate 345 calories of heat—or enough to boil 520 eggs, 32 cabbages, 17 hams, or 632 onions.

The Chesapeake Bay oyster is the only perfect food known to man. Every molecule of its frame is utilized. There are no feathers to blow away in picking; there are no bones to be heaved to the house dog under the table; there are no hoofs, horns, fur, down, gristles, or soup meat to be wasted. It is more valuable than the hog, for it has no squeal to lose. The only sound it makes in dying is a satisfied kerflump. It seems to enjoy being eaten, and if not, it is at least polite enough to refrain from spoiling the feast with disgusting protests. In a word, it has delicacy of feeling as well as delicacy of flavor.

On the Eastern Shore of Maryland the Chesapeake oyster is the principal victual of baron and retainer alike, and so it is no wonder that the typical Eastern Shoreman is the finest human being in the world. On the whole Shore there is not a single man of less than 6 feet 3 inches in stature or of less than a yard around the biceps. The puniest weakling over there is able to trot a mile in 2.45 and to jump over three bales of hay piled one upon the other. Even in the depths of winter, when colds are universal, the average Eastern Shoreman has so loud a voice that it can be heard across the bay. A political rally at Centreville or a camp-meeting at Queenstown is distinctly audible at Annapolis—unless, of course, the wind be a gale from the west. And the Shoreman is an Apollo as well as Hercules. He has flashing eyes, ruddy cheeks, a graceful, willowy figure, and an artistic Roman nose. Even when he grows bald he loses little of his beauty, for his scalp is then found to be as exquisitely pink as the inside of a conch shell.

If the Eastern Shoreman fed upon scrapple, round steaks, and victuals of that sort, he would be just an ordinary man. But his daily viand is the Chesapeake Bay oyster, and so he is a superman.—Baltimore Sun.

Resentful in Canada Over The Question of Wood Pulp

MONTREAL.—While it is true that there is resentment in this country over the new provisions of the Payne tariff law in so far as they affect the pulp and paper industries, it is felt, both at Ottawa and Quebec, that nothing can be gained by the imposition of export duties. The federal government, it is officially announced, will not take any action of a retaliatory nature in this direction, and any legislation it may enact will be directed rather to a final settlement of the difficulties at present in the way than to an aggravation of those difficulties.

It can be authoritatively announced that the future action of the Quebec provincial government will be in line with the policy most acceptable to the Dominion as a whole rather than calculated to meet only the immediate situation as it is found in the province of Quebec. The existing timber leases in that province, including those on more than twelve thousand square miles held by Americans, expire at the end of the current year. The government will have to decide on its policy soon in order that it may be carried into effect with the granting of the new leases. It is certain that the provincial government will elect to follow the example of Ontario and make it a stipulation essential condition of all new leases that there shall be absolutely no exportation of unmanufactured pulp wood to the United States, as far as crown lands owned by the provinces are concerned.

Views have been exchanged by the heads of the various provincial governments most closely concerned, but no definite conference has as yet taken place. As soon as the provincial premiers have agreed upon a mutual policy they will make representations to the federal government along the line of their understanding. That this understanding will be in keeping with the policy of Ontario—complete prohibition of any exportation of unmanufactured pulp wood from crown lands—is assured.

The Canadian press is almost unanimously in favor of provincial and federal prohibition of the export of pulp wood. The attitude of the Canadian press may be summed up in this way: There is a general belief that American paper makers cannot continue to exist without the help of Canada and that if their supply of Canadian pulp wood is cut off by prohibitory legislation the paper industry must come into this country.

Print paper manufacturers and pulp makers are divided among themselves. The pulp makers want complete prohibition, while a large section of the print paper makers clamor for a free market with the United States for lumber, mechanical and chemical wood pulp and news paper. There are those who favor prohibition if the pulp and paper industries can be made to develop here through it. Others again ask for a free market. Others are fighting against any sort of control. No fears are expressed, either in government or in trade circles, of a trade war.—New York Tribune.

Modesty, just as much as lack of it, is pretty much all habit.

You can spank more sense into children than you can reason into them.

A man's vanity never offends women because they can play upon it to their advantage.

The reason a woman knows her son will turn out to be a fine man is he shows no signs of it.

A woman always feels she ought to show some jealousy toward her husband if it's only about an old pipe.

When anybody takes pride in being a man of the world it means he isn't ashamed of being a selfish lump of conceit.

The trivial gossip that a woman starts about somebody else just as often as not goes along until it becomes a scandal about her.

The way for a man to make his wife adore him is for him to go out between the acts at the theater and telephone home to ask if the children have been burned-up.

The usual after-dinner tiff had taken place and Smithers had cooled down. After all, peace was a good thing and well worth the having, and a little more or less humble pie did not much matter. He determined to try woman's weak point—dress—and remarked in a pleasant voice:

"I see dresses are to be worn longer than usual this season."

But the hard lines at the corner of her mouth were still there.

"Well," she observed bitterly, "if they are to be worn longer than I am compelled to wear mine they will have to be made of sheet iron—that's all."

And then they started all over again.—Tit-Bits.

Anent the New Postal Plans

The President and Postmaster General, Hitchcock are casting around for some improvements in the service that will have the effect of cutting down very largely the annual deficit in the Postoffice Department. It has already been determined to increase the fees for registered mail. It is believed that such an increase will produce at least $1,000,000 annually. The registry service has been a very expensive one, but much of that expense is occasioned by the use made of it by the government departments. By far the greatest bulk of the registered mail that goes out of Washington is supplied by the various departments, for which no fee is received by the postoffice. It is possible that a large part of this free registered mail would go as safely and expeditiously in the regular mail as in the registered pouches, but heads of departments and bureaus will continue to register. It has long been known that the postal service would show little or no deficit if the other departments paid for the mail matter carried for them. The entire postal service is maintained out of its own appropriations, while the other departments call upon it for a very heavy service, and are not charged before the people for that expenditure. In other words, the Postoffice Department is called upon to supply out of its appropriation transportation for all the other departments.

The President has also declared himself in favor of the establishment of postal savings banks. It is claimed that these banks would be money-earners, and pay largely above the cost of the service. Postal savings banks are an experiment. They have worked satisfactorily in some other countries, but a scheme that will work well in some other countries may not do so well here, where politics and political pull have so great a control. It always has been a doubtful question whether the government could safely go into any kind of banking business.

The third proposition for increasing the revenue is the establishment of a parcels-post system over the rural free delivery routes. This proposition meets with much favor from the farmers and one class of city merchants. It is just as strongly assailed by the merchants of the small towns and by the express companies. It is argued that if the government goes into business of transporting and delivering, at a minimum cost, merchandise to the farmer, it will be called upon to enter into the delivery business in the cities and towns. Mr. Meyer, when Postmaster General, strongly advocated this scheme. It is estimated that it would add very largely to the earnings of the service while adding hardly anything to the cost. Transportation has always been regarded as a matter of private business, but it is said the President will strongly urge Congress to enact a law providing for a rural parcels-post, and that he believes it will receive favorable consideration. — Washington Post.

City Farming

City lot farming in Philadelphia has proved to be not only practicable but very successful, and the scheme followed in Philadelphia is attracting attention in other cities. The cultivation of the lots helps along in the struggle for existence. In Philadelphia the Vacant Lots Cultivation Association has borrowed the use of all the vacant lots within the city limits that could be obtained and has given out spaces in these lots free to needy persons.

This year about eight hundred families, according to a Philadelphia paper, are depending upon the cultivation of these lots for their means of subsistence. By the intensive method of cultivation applied, four or five crops are raised successively from these lots. Barren places and dumping ground have been converted into gardens and put to a useful as well as ornamental purpose. They yield all sorts of vegetables.

The association has done a great and helpful work, and it is no wonder that other large cities are inquiring into the Philadelphia scheme with a view of adopting it.—Washington News.

Whether anything practical comes from it or not does not much matter. To have discovered the pole is enough. For many years men have been striving to reach it. They have braved hardship and danger in the effort. Hundreds of lives have been lost. Yet it was reserved for a Yankee doctor and two Eskimos to reach the long-sought goal. There is something dramatic in the way the thing was done. The country will rejoice that the task was performed by one of its sons.—Indianapolis News.

IS ACCLAIMED QUEEN OF BEAUTY IN SPAIN

Contest Ended in Land of Beauty By Selection of a Popular Favorite

VALENCIA Spain—Valencia the city of beautiful woman has its Queen of Beauty acclaimed by popular suffrage She is chosen from among several hundred candidates for the high honor to which attends a prize of 5100 pesetas one thousand dollars in American coin and the prerogative to reign and rule over the festivals and tournaments that are held in this city of pleasure for a period of one year

Favoritism popularity or rank do not enter into the choosing of the Beauty Queen Estheticism only sways the voice of the people and in the years that are a gone the humblest senorita has been raised to the dignity above the daughters of Valencia's stately grandees

THE PRESENT QUEEN

The present Queen of Beauty is Rosa D l Figuera chosen from among a hundred beautiful young women of the city at the time of the exposition She was crowned by the king himself during the battle of the flowers which on this occasion exceeded those far famed events held at Nice and which are attended by notables from all parts of Europe

In the beauty contest meritorous prizes are awarded to the first six most beautiful young women of the city receiving the highest popular vote From among them the ballot is again resorted to for selecting the Queen of Beauty

The present sovereign of the social realm is sixteen years of age She is a sister of the Marquis de Fuenteel Sol and although but a child in years as Anglo Saxons go she is a well developed as a woman of adult years She possesses the rose like complexion and satin skin of the young maids.

HER CHARMS OF FACE.

Her black hair is abundant and wavy Her face is a perfect oval strong and classic yet the tender glances of the dark eyes and her Cupid's bow of mouth blend in harmonious design to make up feminine fascination

Her nearest competitor Donna Joaquina Saavedra Fontes is a daughter of the Count de la Alcudia, and one of the most fascinating of the highly born daughters of Valencia

Angeles Soler of a middle class family came third in popular favor She is of coy and timid glance and had many admirers

Inez Sanchis stood fourth among the sextette of preeminent beauties She is from the outlying districts where oranges bloom and bear their golden fruit Hers is of the rustic type but nevertheless a ravishing beauty of the Maude Miller coinage

Soledad Cristallys Gomez the daughter of an official in the customs service is of the coy and wooing type

OF HELLENIC TYPE

Rosa Rodrigo Gomez though coming sixth on the list would have found first favor in the north She is of the dignified Hellenic type and moves with regal grace

These contests on occasions engender a display of bitter feeling between the aristocrats or blue bloods on one side and the Republicans on the other

However to the credit and good sense of the voters it is seldom that true merit fails to win and the possessor of the greatest beauty generally mounts the throne crowned with roses and orange blossoms Then the gala days and spirit of revelry soon prevails and acrimonies are forgot in joy and pleasure For with the true Valencia patriots beautiful women flowers and gala events are of more consequence than the science that dominates the world elsewhere from hut to throne

Successful competitors in the beauty contest at Valencia The first prize was awarded to Senorita Rosa de la Figuera y de la Cerda.

Clever McCormick Parties Were the Invention of Her Pretty and Bright Secretary

NEW YORK—And now another idol is smashed—here is explained away every vestige of credit for Mrs Harold McCormick for the originality of the parties which she perpetrates from time to time It seems that the real clever thing Mrs McCormick did was to take on as her social secretary Miss Humphreys who is a niece of Lord Ponsonby, and who absorbed many of her ideas while living in Washington Miss Humphreys had the entree into the most exclusive Capital circles and treasured up for future use many ideas which have heretofore been credited to Mrs McCormick

Remove Women As Ship Boarding Officers

NEW YORK—The three women officers of the Immigration Bureau who for six years boarded incoming steamships from the cutters for the inspection of women passengers in the second and first cabins have been withdrawn from the service by Commissioner of Immigration Williams

One of them Mrs Jennie I Mooney will be transferred to the Census Bureau at Washington while Mrs A Salsbury and Mrs Sara A Watters will be transferred to Ellis Island as matrons All are to get the same salaries they have been receiving

The appointment of the three matrons for boarding duty was the outcome of an experiment made six years ago on the urgent appeal of the women's clubs From college alumnae and university settlements a half dozen young women wearing abbreviated skirts and modified bloomers were selected to board incoming liners The experiment was not a success and these three matrons were later appointed with modified powers

It was always a novel sight for passengers leaning over the rail to see women mounting a ladder from the cutter's deckhouse to the steamer's decks Sometimes the passengers were inclined to guy them

Commissioner Williams believes that the duties of women inspectors can better be performed by men assisted by the stewardesses of the ships The women's clubs do not agree with him The representatives of the women's clubs say that as Mr Williams is a bachelor he doesn't understand However there will be no more women boarding officers during Commissioner Williams's administration The inspectresses themselves liked the job because they met many nice people saw the newest styles partook of the best fare on the ocean hotels and succored many a lone girl in distress or detected an impostor Now they must stay on Ellis Island where bologna and cervelat are the chief items on the bill of fare

Visits the Great White Lights of a City After Absence of 49 Years

DENVER Colo—For the first time since the year 1860 Mrs Rita Starr 65 years old on Monday night visited Denver with two grandchildren and her husband who is a full-blooded Crow Indian Mrs Starr was born on the divide between Indian Colorow the chief who was ever where Palmer Lake now stands Her mother was a sister to the famous Ute Indian Colorow the chief who was ever bitterly opposed to the white men and to the kindly Chief Ouray's policy in dealing toward them Her father, George Starr was a freighter well known in the early days

Said Mrs. Starr "I am now in Denver for the first time in half a century When the city was no more than a few houses I was taken through by my parents on their way to Oklahoma. I have lived there ever since My uncle was the famous Ute fighter Colorow and I have a distinct recollection of him There was no one of the tribe who could boast of having killed so many whites as did he Ouray the friend of the whites was his enemy and several times Colorow nearly killed him I came to Denver merely out of curiosity I had heard that it had grown to be a great city and I wanted to see for myself I am going down by the divide tomorrow and then to Colorado Springs I shall spend a few days there and then go back to Oklahoma City " Mrs Starr has every feature of the Indian, as have her grandchildren and she is proud of the marks of her race I take as much pride in the fact that I am part Ute as I do that I am American"

Rent Man in Automobile Captures Fleeing Salome in Band Wagon

CARMEL N Y—Following a lively chase of a Salome dancing troupe of one dancer and announcer by an exacting rent collector the Putnam County Fair today has for redemption or sale a tent capable of housing fifty persons and a life size picture of a Salome doing her most bewitching dance done in vivid red blue yellow and orange

A few days ago a portly woman with foiled complexion and bleached hair [illegible] space at the fair ground for the avowed purpose of giving the country folk a real exhibition of the Salome Dance The spieler who might have been the dancer's grandson put up a so-called painting of Salome in front of the tent and then began his dissertation intended to lure the entire crowd inside The patrons of the fair evidently had tired of Salome and they refused to contribute their hard earned dimes

Salome in [illegible] costume appeared on a platform while the spieler shouted loudly and continuously on but the tent remained empty

There was an ostrich race yesterday and while the crowd was watching it the Salome outfit—dancer and "spieler"—folded up their tent and picture and bundled it into a wagon Then they drove away without notifying the fair management [illegible] turn or making [illegible] responsible [illegible]

[illegible] jumping [illegible] down the road He caught up with Salome near Croton Falls, and while the portly dancer shed tears Reed confiscated the tent and picture and returned to the fair grounds with his prize

The Fair Association is now looking for any one who may have use for a Salome painting or a tent. Either or both may be had for a reasonable sum, the proceeds to go into the fair treasury, of which Mr Reed is custodian

When I Her Beauty Do Behold

So oft as I her beauty do behold,
And therewith do her cruelty compare,
I marvel of what substance was the mould
The which her made at once so cruel fair
Not earth for her high thoughts more heavenly are
Not water for her love doth burn like fire
Not air for she is not so light or rare
Not fire for she doth freeze with faint desire
Then needs another element inquire
Whereof she mote be made, that is the sky
For to the heaven her naughty looks aspire
And eke her mind is pure and immortal high
Then sith to heaven ye likened are the best
Belike in mercy as in all the rest.

PLAN TROLLEY LINE INTO THE SOUTH

To Connect San Francisco and Los Angeles is Now Desire

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13—The clearly formulated project of connecting this city with San Francisco with a double track electric railroad delayed two years through fear of the desperate opposition of the late E H Harriman will be rushed to an early fulfillment. A preliminary survey has been made and engineers are to put in the final survey immediately.

THE PROJECTED LINE

Within twenty-four hours after the death of Harriman Cross was summoned to New York to confer with his backers with a view to beginning work immediately.

The projected line will run through the richest portion of the San Joaquin valley and the oil fields of Kern county. The route is eighty miles shorter than any line connecting the two cities and heavy grades are practically eliminated according to Captain Cross who went over the entire ground personally. Congress has granted a way through the Zaca Lake forest reserve.

S.S.S. HEALS SORES AND ULCERS

S S S heals Sores and Ulcers in the very simplest way. It just goes right down into the blood and removes the cause, and the place is bound to heal because the impurities and morbid matters which have been the means of keeping the ulcer open are no longer absorbed from the blood. External applications of salves, lotions, plasters, etc., can never produce a cure because they do not reach the source of the trouble. At best they can only allay pain or reduce inflammation, such treatment is working on symptoms and not reaching the cause. Every nutritive corpuscle in the blood is weakened or infected, they cannot nourish the fibrous tissue around the place, but instead they constantly discharge into the flesh around the sore a quantity of impure, germ-laden matter which gradually eats into the surrounding healthy tissue and causes the ulcer to enlarge. Since impure blood is responsible for Sores and Ulcers, a medicine that can purify the blood is the only hope of a cure. S. S. S has long been recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing the qualities necessary to remove every impurity from the blood. While curing the sore or ulcer S.S.S. brings about a healthy condition of the flesh by supplying it with rich, healthy blood, and thus makes the cure permanent and lasting. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

HARRISON READY FOR FIGHT WITH POWELL

POWELL WILL TRY FOR KNOCK-OUT TO BOOST NELSON MATCH

Redhaired Fighter Must Win Easily to Expect Chance at Battling Nelson---Harrison Very Confident; Johnson Returns to Rest

By EDDIE SMITH.

A HUNCH may never make a man win a battle of fisticuffs, but [illegible] does help a trainer send a man into the ring confident. In the battle of tomorrow night between Lew Powell and Kid Harrison, the Kid has a hunch that he will win, and it is such a strong one that he wants to bet most of the purse money that will be coming to him on his chances.

Powell and Harrison are to meet before the Oakland Wheelmen Club and it will be the third time that they have opposed each other. Harrison has been beaten in the two prior meetings, but he believes that there is a charm in the third meeting and that he cannot help but win, especially in his improved condition.

The first time that Powell and Harrison met they tangled for six rounds at the West Oakland Club. The contest was a [illegible] from bell to bell and at the end of the sixth round Powell was given the decision on a hair line win. Harrison was never satisfied with that decision and when the opportunity was given him to again try his hand on Powell he accepted the chance, even though he had only four days in which to reduce several pounds and get into fix for the fuss.

SHOWED GAMENESS.

This contest was a twenty round affair at the Dreamland rink, and in it Harrison received a beating he should long remember. From the sixth round on Harrison was tired out but he plodded on in the face of a terrific beating and was still coming when the bell ended the battle. Powell had won, but he could not put the tough Mexican off his feet.

Now Harrison has said that his condition was not right and that he will give a better account of himself. Harrison boosted his stock considerably by the nifty manner in which he put Jack Clifford to the mat for the count of ten seconds, in San Francisco a few months ago.

The Kid has a great punch and any time that he lands with his straight right there is going to be something doing. Powell will always be in danger of being knocked out with that punch for it has been proven that it only takes one of them to end a battle when it lands right.

Powell has it on Harrison as a boxer and as a ring general. Lew uses his [illegible] all the time and the chances are that in the battle of tomorrow he will content himself with trying to win on points and only try for a knockout in case an exceptional chance presents itself.

HAVE GOOD CARD.

A knockout over Harrison is just what Powell needs at this time to bolster up his stock for a meeting with Battling Nelson, however, and he should make a desperate effort to land the lucky punch. With Johnnie Frayne in the field for the chance at Nelson it is up to Powell to show the fans that he is best entitled to a scrap with the champion or at least a trial heat with Frayne for the honor, and to do this he must give Mr. Harrison one fine licking. Harrison of course says that this is impossible, but Powell will come to Oakland tomorrow night determined to do the trick just the same.

The other events include six round bouts between Frankie Burns vs. Willie Ritchie, Jim Foley vs. Fred Ward and Charlie Burns vs. Young Trenberth. The winner of the Burns-Ritchie contest will be matched to meet Percy Cove the coming month and with this additional prize hung up the lads should travel along at a rapid clip. Burns has never disappointed the fans once in his boxing and there is no reason to believe Ritchie is [illegible] to make him slow down.

JOHNSON WILL REST.

[illegible] Arthur Galveston Johnson, champion heavyweight of the world, returned to Oakland yesterday after a three days' [illegible] engagement at San Jose and [illegible] a streak of darkness flying along [illegible] Boulevard was identified as Johnson and his automobile. The arresting of Jack by an Oakland [illegible] man had the effect of making him go slow about the streets of the city, but he is just like a caged bird for once he hits that speedway he's off at an awful gait.

Manager George Lyttle announced last evening that he was not overly anxious to get the colored man theatrical work for a time as he believed that the champion was entitled to some recreation.

"Ever since Jack landed here from Australia he has been a busy man," said Lyttle "and I know he is anxious to lay off for awhile. Johnson likes idleness where he is free from care and I believe it is coming to him. Of course, if we get any real good offers we will not turn them down, but at the present time we are not looking for work."

WILL KEEP ARMSTRONG.

Johnson intends to keep Bob Armstrong with him until such time as he is sure as to the chances of Jeffries fighting, for in the case of a fight with the big white man he wants to have Bob with him in the training. Africanis Armstrong is the best natured fellow around a training camp in the country and Johnson will not allow him to slip away if he can possibly hold to him.

That Johnson is some pumpkins at repartee was shown in his contest with Kaufman where he continually carried on a rapid fire conversation with people around the ring during the one minutes rest between rounds. Jack, at his training quarters, is even craftier, for he is a very hard man to best in an argument and has a memory that is remarkable.

Johnson will remain in Oakland until after the Ketchel affair in October and then he will leave for the east. In regard to the outcome of the Ketchel-Langford contest, Johnson says that he will bet there will be no knockout and for that matter he would not think it such a wonderful thing if Ketchel should beat Langford. Johnson believes that Sam has to beat a man in a very few rounds or go the limit for a decision.

FRESNO, Sept 13.—Fresno and Oakland divided honors yesterday in a double header. The morning game was extended to ten innings, the locals winning out 2 to 1 in one of the best games of the season. In the afternoon the invaders mauled Oscar Jones to a frazzle, clouting him for thirteen safeties, netting nine runs. Henderson opposed him and permitted but five hits.

In the first contest Arthur Smith was in rare form and held the Oakland crew to two singles. Bill Bloomfield was also in good shape, allowing but five hits.

Funk's daring base running in the sixth was the feature. After drawing a walk he stole second and third in rapid succession and registered on a wild pitch. Oakland tied the score in the eighth, and Funk broke up the game in the tenth with a drive to the right field fence with Tracey on second.

The match between Evans and Gardner was hard fought, but by a brilliant burst on the last nine holes Evans won by 76 to 77. Sherman's score was 80.

ANTIOCH DEFEATS VALLEJO.

ANTIOCH, Sept. 13.—Antioch played an errorless game yesterday and defeated the Vallejo team by a score of 3 to 0. The visitors were unable to touch Martinoni, securing only two scratch hits off his delivery. Martinoni fanned 11 of the navy yard men.

Batteries—Antioch, Martinoni and Hust; Vallejo, Ward, Green and Devota.

Bay City Bicycle Club Takes Important Events

The postponed Alameda Fourth of July bicycle races were held yesterday over the Buena Vista avenue and the Bay City Wheelmen carried off every event with the exception of the one-mile race, which was only open to Alamedans. The races were not up to expectations, many of the clubs failing to have their members on hand. The feature event was the team race at fifteen miles for five-men teams, and all five of the heats went to the Bay City riders. This gave them a total of twenty-five points, and as Alameda was second in each of the heats, they were credited with fifteen points. Bay City also took every heat in the one-mile State championship and all three heats in the final. The championship went to Fred Diver, with F. Curran second, and T. Bevens third.

The one-mile race for Alameda Wheelmen was won by B. Clark, with E. Nelson second and H. Clark third.

Following are the results.

Team race—First heat, T. Burns, Bay City first, B. Clark, Alameda, second. Second heat, M. Treacy, Bay City, first, L. Longley, Alameda, second. Third heat, P. Quevillon, Bay City, first; H. Pearl R. Is Winner of Golden Gate Yacht Race

Given a thirty-minute handicap, the Pearl R. had no trouble in winning the Sorensen cup in the second annual yacht race of the Golden Gate Club. Ollie was second and Sappho third. Sappho made the best time, but the generous handicap allowed the other sloops proved her undoing.

Following is the result of the race:

MELVILLE LONG IN FINALS.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Melville H. Long, California champion, and Wallace Johnson, University of Pennsylvania crack, won their way to the finals of the intercollegiate tennis tournament yesterday by disposing of R. Sweetser of Harvard and A. B. Ayer of the University of Pennsylvania, respectively.

Long played below his average throughout his match with Sweetser, and his long reach and his opponent's poor net play gave him the victory after a hard struggle by three sets to one. The last set was long drawn out.

The finals are played today.

EIGHTH STRAIGHT FOR THE ALERTS

Encinals Keep 1000 Intact by Defeating Haywards Decisively

Standing of the Transbay League clubs:

Alameda Alerts	8	0	1.000
Maxwells	4	4	.500
Hayward	3	5	.375
Fruitvale	2	6	.250

THE Alameda Alerts maintained their 1000 per cent record and won their eighth straight victory yesterday afternoon, defeating Hayward on the diamond across the estuary by the score of 13 to 4. Poor fielding on the part of the visitors was responsible for the inequality of the score, for, with proper support Levy would have pitched a creditable game. A number of the fourteen bingles that were gathered from his delivery were bunts or slow infield hits that should have been handled, and the errors behind him came at the most inopportune times. Russell, on the other hand, although batted freely, received almost perfect support. Britt twice shut off runs by retiring the side with long, running catches.

Two safe fives, a bunt and a fumble and two wild throws by J. Delaney produced four runs for the Alerts in the second inning: two outfield singles, a walk a two-bagger, three safe bunts, a fielder's choice, four stolen bases and misplays by Fenton, Swanton and Favor netted eight more in the fourth; and a single, a stolen base and another hit resulted in the final tally in the eighth. Three of the four Hayward runs were earned.

Daly played first base for the Alerts in place of Dice Peterson, who is away on a vacation trip. Score:

Fruitvale Beats Maxwells

The Fruitvale team defeated the Maxwells at San Leandro through superior batting. Soracco outpitched Hollis, and his team-mates hit the ball opportunely, especially Jacobsen, Anghino and Mitchell.

The visitors scored once in the opening inning on a two-bagger, a single and a sacrifice. Each team sent a man around in the second, Fruitvale on a hit and two sacrifices, and the home team on a walk, a single and a wild throw. Fruitvale added two in the fourth on four clean hits, one good for two bases. There was no further scoring until the eighth, when one of the visitors registered on a double, an out and a wild pitch. In their half the Maxwells also scored once on a base on balls and two safe swats. Both teams were blanked in the final round.

Barbarian Cricketers Win Championship Cup

By defeating the Wanderers yesterday at the Golden Gate stadium the Barbarian cricket club won the championship cup of the California Cricket Association and the pennant presented by A. G. Spalding & Bros. The Barbarians have gone through the season with only one defeat and have scored 16 points out of a possible 20.

The main features of yesterday's game were the batting of Harry Elliot, 69 not out, S. Stewart 38 and Stewart's remarkable bowling. He bowled 11 overs, half of which were maidens, and captured six wickets for a paltry 14 runs.

H. Brown was the best of the Wanderers' batsmen, with 26. In the bowling, nine different men were tried.

At the Alameda cricket grounds the Alamedans were badly beaten by the San Francisco County club by a score of 158 against 66. Petersen and Renwick did all the bowling for the County team, the former taking six wickets for 25 runs and the later three for 36 runs. Lowney played a good innings for the thirty-five runs, and Captain Renwick carried his bat out with 58 runs to his credit.

Invaders Commence Series Tomorrow With Tom Hackett's Warriors

The Invaders return home this evening and tomorrow commence a series with Hackett's law-makers on the San Francisco State league grounds at Twelfth and Mission streets. The two teams will open up at Grove Park on Wednesday, and will play there every day this week and Sunday afternoon. On Sunday morning another trip will be made across the bay.

The Solons came out very swell in last week's struggle with the Stockton Millers and should give Cy Moreing's crew a hard run. Hackett has an aggressive team and the players are playing a good game at present.

Every effort will be made by the locals to get to the top of the ladder, and Joe Nealon is confident his men can take the majority of the games. He is anxious to have the club intrenched in first place, so the Fresno Tigers will find it impossible to overcome them. Last week the Invaders were in the lead, but only for one day, as the next they went down to defeat.

Fresno journeys to Stockton and plays the Millers, the first game being on Friday.

Bill Reidy Brings His Athenians Back To Home Grounds

There will be a complete shift of scenery in the Coast League games. The Athenians return to their old camping grounds and tomorrow will hook up with the heavy-hitting Beavers at Freeman's Park. The series should be a hummer, as the Portlanders are making a strong bid for first place, while the Oaks have one of the best clubs in the organization at present. Bill Reidy figures on capturing the series, but if McCreedie can have his way, the result will be a one-sided affair in his favor.

The poor crippled Angels leave these quarters and they are mighty glad. In the last two weeks they only succeeded in taking two games. Tomorrow will see them in Sacramento, up against the Senators. Dillon expects his pitchers to be in good trim this week, and this time there will be a rejuvenation in the club. A fortnight ago the Angels looked like strong contenders for the bunting, but their hopes are pretty well shattered by this time.

Happious Hoganus will play the host to Mohler's bunch of champions. But just what kind of a reception the Vernon manager will extend to the Seals is a matter of great conjecture. Many believe the Villagers will show the San Francisco men up.

Northwestern League.

SEATTLE, Sept. 13.—Seattle and Aberdeen broke even yesterday. First game:

Seattle	3	8	2
Aberdeen	1	1	2

Batteries—Allen and Shea; Starkell and O'Brien.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
Seattle	2	4	3
Aberdeen	5	6	4

Batteries—Miller and Shea, Most, Pernoll and O'Brien.

SPOKANE, Sept. 13.—Both Tacoma pitchers were wild as hawks yesterday and the Indians' few hits came opportunely. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Tacoma	2	8	4
Spokane	9	8	1

Batteries—P. Butler, Geehan and Blankenship; Jensen, Rush and Spencer.

PORTLAND, Sept. 13.—Vancouver fell on Portland in the fourth inning yesterday and drove out three hits, which netted them four runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Vancouver	4	10	4
Portland	3	7	2

Batteries—Erickson and Sugden; Seaton and Fournier.

ANOTHER FOR MODESTO REDS.

MODESTO, Sept. 13.—Bakersfield was outclassed by the Modesto Reds yesterday, losing the game by the score of 8 to 6. The Oil City lads made errors at critical stages of the game, while the Reds were at their best. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Bakersfield	6	5	5
Modesto	8	6	1

Batteries—Traeger, Phillips and Hoff; Mobley and Palm.

ANGELS CAPTURE MORNING BATTLE

Garrison Finish Results in Seals Taking Final Game

SUNDAY morning games at Freeman's Park for some reason or other are particularly choice to the Los Angeles tossers, for the only game won from Oakland and San Francisco was captured on the local grounds. But such a slugfest as that of yesterday never was. Meikle, who took the mound for the Seals, was hammered good and heavy, and Tozer was walloped equally as hard, only a little harder, but the visitors made all their hits count. The Angels started out by making three runs in the opening frame, Howard's lucky homer, which bounded over the fence, doing the trick. The Seals came right back and scored two in the same period. Los Angeles continued its onward march by scoring in the third and sixth. Like a whirlwind the Seals fell on Tozer in the sixth and switched the score 6 to 5. Alarmed, but not discouraged, the Angels waited until the eigth before showing Meikle their last card. A shower of hits in this spasm gave the Angels four tallies. Many of the fans believed that the slaughter would never end, and it did not, for in the ninth the Mohlerites threatened to bat out a victory, but a victory, but after scoring two runs concluded that it was time to catch the train and so let the orange pickers have one game in the series.

San Francisco made a garrison finish of the afternoon game, taking it in the ninth inning. Up to this round not a run was registered off Thorsen. He had everything, but in the final charge he weakened and a 1 to 0 score was turned into 2 to 1. Durham pitched for the Seals.

TRIBUNE BASEBALL LEAGUE

LEHNHARDTS IN LEAD OF LEAGUE

Humble Heesemans in a One-Sided Game at Freeman's

THE Heesemans were administered an overwhelming defeat that they will not soon forget at the hands of the Lehnhardts yesterday at Freeman's Park, near the Coast League game. It certainly was an off day for the clothiers, for they were humiliated to the tune of 10 to 1. Three pitchers were used in a vain endeavor to stem the tide. Hafey, who has twirled remarkably well in the past ran up against a stiff proposition in the sandy kids, and two innings convinced him that his place was anywhere except in the box. In those two rounds he was touched up for four hits and four runs. Captain Berthéaud pitted his experience and strength against the Lehnhardts, but after he had allowed seven safeties and two runs, concluded that he would give way to Sampson. This happened in the beginning of the eighth inning. Sampson showed himself to be the possessor of a few puzzling slants, for he waded through two rounds and only one run was annexed by his opponents. The lone tally of the Heesemans came in the final frame.

PLENTY OF HARD HITTING.

Unusually hard hitting was done by members of both sides. Smith of the Lehnhardts tore off a triple and double, while Lowe and Berthéaud rapped out three hits apiece. Otto Smith was the unlucky tosser of the day. He was hit twice by a pitched ball, and in the last inning was knocked down by a stinging curve, square on the forehead. Smith showed his grit, however, by cracking jokes a few moments afterwards. In the earlier part of the day he pulled off the star catch by running in from deep center and hooking Lhereux's difficult knock.

The Lehnhardts commenced to make runs in the very first inning. A walk and singles by Lowe and Heiseman brought a run in the initial round. Three more came in in the second on Smith's three-bagger, Bartram's single, Strall's error, a double steal, passed ball and an out. The third inning netted the Lehnhardts another tally when Heiseman was safe on Sampson's fumble, took second on Mason's single, third on a wild pitch and home on Smith's two-bagger.

PRETTY BALLOON ASCENSION.

The fourth and fifth rounds were uneventful, but the sixth was a sluggernheimer. The ropes were cut for fair, and when the balloon came down four players crossed the pan, all on account of three hits and plenty of loose fielding. Samson held his rivals down to one run in the eighth, Smith making the tally on an error, an out and Monroe's single.

Berthéaud scored Heesemans' run. He doubled to right and on Bartram's wild throw to Lowe made the circuit.

MORANS WIN IN SLUGFEST GAME

Marshall Touched Up for 14 Hits; Noble Getting Three of Them

THE Zinggs and Morans played one of those games which reminded one so much of those times when the batter hit the ball as hard as he could and the fielder felt himself lucky if he got through the afternoon by making no less than three or four errors. It was a hit and bang affair and yet had its interludes of brilliant fielding and snappy playing. Marshall, who did the heaving for the Alamedans, was decidedly off in his control and walked seven. He struck out seven and permitted fourteen singles. The Morans had on their batting "garbs" and cracked the ball a la Hans Wagner, every one on the team getting a single except Connellan and Maderos. Miller was given his initial tryout in the box and held the Encinal sluggers down to six safeties. He passed six to first and struck out five, not half the number made by Marshall. Mericich pulled off the sensational catch of the day when he ran back of second, made a leap in the air and stabbed Mendle's corking drive. It was a case of clear robbery. Nolan and Walley also made themselves conspicuous by their clever stops and catches.

FIVE RUNS IN FIRST ROUND.

Both sides started the slugfest by rolling enough tallies to remind one of the days of old, when war was all they said it was and as much as Sherman called it. Five tallies on each side for each party. A combination of errors and hits by Lydon and Martin proved the charm for the Morans. The Martin's hit was a three-bagger, but by cutting second he was called out and had his triple shortened to a single. Francks was the main factor in geting the five tallies for the Zinggs, for he cleared the bases with a zizzling clout to right field. Bad as the first inning was, the Morans came right back and in the next frame sent seven kids across the pan. The blow was terrible, but the Zinggs were not fazed by it. They held low until the latter part of the fight, when they came back strong and ran up two runs in the seventh, one in the eighth and three more in the ninth. At one time it appeared as if the game would not go on. The Zinggs took exception to a decision of Umpire Baumgardner, but the difficulties were smoothed over. In the melee third baseman Mendle was removed from the game for making remarks.

The Morans made a run in the fourth and seventh. Noble was the heavy sticker of the afternoon, ripping out three, five times at bat, one of them a two-bagger. Wilshusen, Noble, Lyons, Miller and Mericich also stood their grounds and cracked out doubles.

Result of yesterday's games: Grove Park—First game, morning, 10:30: Tribunes, 5; Reliance, 3. Second game, afternoon at 2:30: Rutleys, 7; Breuners, 2.

Freeman's Park First game, 12:30: Lehnhardts, 10; Heesemans, 1. Second game, afternoon, 2 o'clock: Morans, 14; Zinggs, 11.

THE Rutleys lowered the percentage column of the Breuners by trimming them to a tune of 7 to 2 yesterday afternoon at the Grove Park. Campi was on the mound for the winners and held down that position in big league style, allowing only five hits.

Lacey was on the receiving end and he also performed like a major, not allowing a player to steal a base.

Dizebeau and Purdy were the twirlers for the Breuners, the Rutleys touching them up for nine bingles.

Every player wearing a Rutley uniform played with all his heart and soul and Manager Goyheneix helped the boys along a great deal by his clever coaching.

RUTLEYS FIRST TO SCORE.

The Rutleys started the scoring in the first inning. De Lucke walked, took second on a sacrifice by Walsh and tallied on Rowland's three base hit to left.

The Breuners evened the score in the second on Dizebeau's four base swat to right.

The score remained deadlocked up to the sixth. In this round the tailors forged ahead two runs. After Anderson and De Lucke were put away, Walsh opened up with a single to left, stole second. Rowland singled to center, scoring Walsh. The former pilfered second and tallied on Campi's single to center. This made the score 3 to 1.

The Rutleys put the damper on the game in the eighth. Ulrich drew a pass and Anderson was hit in the ribs by one of Dizebeau's shoots. Purdy now took the mound for the furniture boys. De Lucke bunted to Purdy, who tried to catch Ulrich at third, but the latter beat the throw. Walsh out-scored Ulrich. With Anderson and De Luce still on bases, Rowland clouted out a home run to left field.

In the ninth spasm the furniture boys scored their second run. Clough singled and registered on a triple by Dizebeau.

TWO HOME RUNS.

The Rutleys played a great game in the field, Rowland being the chief star. He accepted ten chances, without a mishap, and also was there with the stick. Out of four times to bat he hit safely three times, making a home run, triple and a single.

Campi also fielded well, having seven assists to his credit without an error. He connected safely twice out of four trips to the plate. Ulrich made a great running catch of Spicer's fly in the fifth inning. Dizebeau carried off the batting honors for the Breuners, making a homer and a triple out of three times up.

RELIANCE GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT

Lind of Tribunes Strikes Out Eleven; Hastings Makes Great Catch

IN an exciting and interesting baseball game yesterday morning at the State league grounds at Fifty-seventh and Grove streets, the Tribunes took the measure of the Reliance tossers by the score of 5 to 3. The exhibition was a hummer all the way through. Both teams being tailenders, they tried hard to outdo the other in keeping out of the cellar. Classy plays were the order of the day, members of each side pulling off several sensational catches and stops. Lind opposed young Keefer. It was a pitcher's duel between them, each allowing the same number of hits and passes. Lind had it on his opponent, however, in the strike-out column, getting eleven to his credit to the other's 6.

In the third inning the Reliance boys commenced a batting rally and for a few moments it appeared as if it never would stop. Lind did not have anything in stock of a puzzling nature, and before any one had time to think, three hits and as many runs were made. With the inning over Lind returned to his best form and held the Reliance runless during the remainder of the contest.

HASTING'S GREAT CATCH.

The Tribunes started their run-getting right off the drop of the bat. In the first inning Gay propelled a two-bagger to deep center and Tompkinson followed suit, sending the runner around the circuit. The scribes evened up the score in the third, geting their two runs on a combination of hits and errors. A tally was dragged across the pan in the fifth and sixth.

Hastings of the Reliance pulled one of the most sensational catches seen on any grounds this year. Running clear over to the bleachers' fence, he jumped the boards and clung onto a foul. It was a remarkable piece of fielding and brought him great applause.

Ketchel and Langford Are in Fine Condition

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Stanley Ketchel now weighs 176 pounds and says that he will not be under 175 when he enters the ring for a ten-round bout with Sam Langford at the Fairmont Athletic Club in this city Friday night. Ketchel is working like a beaver and is apparently in as good condition as ever he was.

After reeling off eight miles in a dog trot on the Westchester county roads, the Montana cowboy returned to his quarters, stripped and took on four training partners for four rounds each in succession. Each bout was a fast and hard one and at the conclusion Ketchel did not seem to be in the least winded. Instead of showing any distress, he punched the bag for fifteen minutes at a lightning pace.

Reports from Boston indicate that Sam Langford is preparing himself for what he considers the most serious battle of his career. It is not believed that he will weigh more than 160 pounds, possibly 158. A large delegation of his supporters plan to accompany him to New York, but there is little likelihood of these witnessing the fight, as only record members of the club will be admitted and these numbers have already engaged all the seats.

Vernon and Oaks Both Take Turns in Slamming the Ball

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—The Athenians took kindly to Willett in the morning game, and had no trouble in winning, 7 to 1, but in the afternoon the tables were turned, and the Villagers gave the Ostrogs an awful drubbing, securing nineteen hits before the slaughter was over. Tonneson tried his hand at pitching, but retired in favor of Bill Reidy after the second inning. Three innings were enough for Manager Bill. Willie Hogan finished the game. Roy Hitt allowed five hits.

Oakland Bank Clerks Organize Pistol Club

A revolver club has been organized by the employes of the Oakland Bank of Savings, and their first practice was held Saturday, when out of a possible 125 with the revolver at 25 yards range the following scores were made at Shellmound ranges:

Cerent, 122; H. Merrill, 114; R. J. Hough, 106; D. A. Bulmore, 103; G. Ludlow, 108; G. A. Hall, 54.

The Shellmound Pistol and Rifle Club will hold its eighth annual theater party at the Oakland Orpheum, Monday, September 20.

There was all kinds of hard luck for both teams in the morning game. Howard and McArdle collided at second base and both of them went out of commission. This made it necessary for an all-around change in the afternoon. Mundorf played third, while Zeider did the honors at short. Wheeler filled in for the Angels at second and Orendorf held down the job at first.

GIRL LEAPS TO DEATH IN BAY

Waiter Says He Told Deck Hands of Ferryboat About It

An unknown young woman, about 24 years of age, is supposed to have committee suicide early this morning by jumping from the 12.15 o'clock narrow gauge ferry boat from San Francisco to Oakland. Ben Sears, a waiter employed in the Techau tavern, San Francisco, but residing at 333 24th street this city, reported to the police that he had seen the woman throw herself overboard. He also says he immediately informed one of the deck hands of the suicide but the man paid no attention to him. The boat proceeded on its course and the woman according to the waiter was swallowed up in the darkness and the waters.

Sears is positive that the saw the woman jump overboard. He says: "I noticed the woman pacing up and down the rear end of the boat nervously. She was about 24 years of age and was dark complexioned. She was well dressed but appeared worried. I noticed her because of this fact. When she sprang over the rail I immediately ran to one of the deck hands and informed him of what had transpired. He paid no attention to me. The boat proceeded on its way, leaving the woman to her fate. This morning I went to police headquarters and reported what appeared to be the indifference of the deck hand in failing to make an effort to save the woman."

SAN FRANCISCO SOCIETY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Many well-known people returned to the city this morning after a delightful week-end down the peninsula. The majority of those who were present at the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. William H. SALES OF STOCK IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Stocks were sold with some urgency when trading began on the stock exchange today, the movement being heralded by wide declines in London before the opening here. Union Pacific dipped 2½ points from Saturday's closing, allowing for the dividend, but rebounded 1½. Southern Pacific fell 1¾, and the Hill stocks, St. Paul, New York Central, Reading, Wabash preferred and the United States Steel stocks a point or more.

St. Paul, Reading and Great Northern preferred recovered about a point after another selling spasm came on with liquidation in Amalgamated Copper. Union Pacific fell back to the low point, and there was a shakeup also in other stocks. Delaware & Hudson and Northwestern broke 2 points. General Electric fell 1⅝, and there were many other losses of 1 point and upward before the rally. The rally was substantial and was followed by quieter trading.

Reading moved up a point, but the general market held firm with the dying out of the selling movement. Trading became dull. Atlantic Coast Line declined 2¼ and New York Central 3¼.

Reading's rise to 164, an advance of more than 3 points above last week's closing, encouraged more general buying, but St. Paul was the only stock that achieved much more than the recovery of previous declines.

Prices had a brief set back but the ground was made up later when a number of the specialties began to show strength. United Railways & Investment Company jumped 5, American Smelting 1½, Delaware & Hudson 1¼, and American Ice 1. Central Railroad of New Jersey declined 6.

The market closed unsettled and generally weak. Union Pacific fell back again to a lower point than at the opening, and the list yielded in sympathy. The relapse in Union Pacific carried it down to 201, a loss of 4½. Illinois Central declined 2.

Bonds were firm.

WHEAT MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO GRAIN MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Wheat—Steady; no trading; cash, $1.70@1.75.

Barley—Steady. May, $1.47; December, $1.41; cash, $1.35@1.38¾.

Corn—Steady; large yellow, $1.75@1.85.

PORTLAND, Sept. 13.—Wheat, track prices—Club, 87c; bluestem, 97c; red Russian, 85¼c; Turkey red, 87c; forty-fold, 89½c.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—A combination of conditions resulted in moderate advances in speculative wheat prices last week, without any improvement in the value of cash wheat, putting the cash and the future quotations more nearly on a normal basis than they have been for many weeks previously. The government crop report showing a decline of 3 points in spring wheat conditions and an almost sensational drop in corn prospects, started a buying movement in the speculative market, chiefly to cover short sales. Evidences of some congestion in the Chicago September contracts, owing to manipulation by the Armour Grain Company, added to the strength, and an additional buying motive was furnished by a Russian crop report showing only 20,000,000 bushels more wheat and actually less rye than last year. This report made little impression abroad and its effect on American markets was modified by the general unreliability of Russian reports and the large offerings of wheat from Russia to importing countries. As a result of all these influences, there was an extreme rise of 5¼c in Chicago September wheat, and 4c in December. A considerable part of the advance was lost on Saturday.

While speculative prices were advancing the cash markets remained practically unchanged and premiums for cash wheat were greatly diminished. Millers have bought sparingly lately. They claim that it is impossible to make new sales of flour on the basis of existing prices of cash wheat and that their sales do not extend beyond this month's shipment, and that their needs have been mostly provided for by purchases to arrive. Although the movement of spring wheat this year was about a week later getting started, the receipts at the two northwestern centers last week fell short but a little of hose of a year ago. Minneapolis received 2568 carloads, against 2128 in the week before and 2610 a year ago, while Duluth had 2,760 carloads, against 299 a year ago. Including the Canadian movement, the total was greater than a year ago, as Winnipeg received about twice as many carloads as in the same week last year. Increase in elevator stocks at Minneapolis and Duluth last week was 855,000 bushels, against 1,330,000 bushels a year ago, showing a large absorption of the offerings. The spring wheat receipts this week are expected to be up to the capacity of the railroads, and to continue so for the next two or three months. Foreign markets continue to lag and a new export business is impossible. Liverpool is 5c out of line for business with this country. The foreigners are getting all the wheat they need. Russian and the Danube continue to ship six and one-half million bushels weekly, and moderate amounts from other sources make up a total weekly world's shipments larger than a year ago. With a tendency to reduce the world's crop report, the Russian crop figures, the reported decrease in the Argentine wheat area, and importing countries now depending on Russia and the Danubian countries for most of their supply. It would seem as though there must be buyers in this country and Canada, but they show no signs of doing so now. Possibly they may get all they need in Canada if this country's prices hold up.

Speculative corn prices advanced about 3c last week, owing to the rather sensational September government report. There are plenty of bulls now, though there are also many traders who believe the crop is larger than the government report indicates and who therefore believe that the present prices are too high.

It was the belief at the close Saturday that the speculative market had been over bought, and a natural setback was due, as the majority of the longs will not stand any punishment.—Kansas City Star.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Wheat for September delivery advanced more than 1c at the opening today, but deferred months here were inclined to weaken because of increased receipts in the northwest. December opened at 96⅞@97c.

The market became strong about the middle of the session, owing to brisk demand, based on a report claiming that the Argentine crop had been seriously injured by locusts. December advanced to 98⅜c. The close was strong at almost the top, with December up 1⅝@1¾c at 98¼@98⅜c.

Increased arrivals of corn prompted liberal sales of the December delivery, which caused moderate weakness. December opened ⅛@⅜c lower at 59⅝@59⅞c and sold at 59⅝@60c.

The bulge in wheat caused a firmer tone in the final half of the day. December advanced to 60⅜c. The close was steady, with December a shade higher at 60¼@60⅜c.

Oats were weaker and prices at the opening were ⅛@¼c lower, December being at 39⅛@39¼c. Later December dropped to 39c.

Provisions were dull and steady. Prices at the opening were 5c lower to 7½c higher.

The closing quotations were as follows:

MEN ARE HELPLESS AS CHILDREN

When Taken Suddenly Ill—Here Is a Common-Sense Safeguard.

Big, strong man is as a helpless infant when he is suddenly ill.

The sturdiest chap in town usually loses his self-control, and is utterly unable to regard his condition with the wonted sense that characterizes his everyday actions.

For example: He comes home tired, eats a hearty dinner and sits down to read and smoke away a quiet evening.

Suddenly he notices a weight on his stomach, then sharp pains around his heart, and a feeling of suffocation. Thoughts of "heart disease" rush over him, and in his agony he fears the worst. His trouble was acute indigestion, brought on by overloading his tired stomach.

A couple of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets would have given him instant relief—would have saved him hours of suffering.

Carry a package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets in your vest pocket or keep them in your room. Take one after each heavy meal, and indigestion can never bother you.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets cure stomach troubles by supplying the one element, the absence of which in the gastric juices, causes indigestion and dyspepsia. They enable the stomach to digest all kinds of food and to quickly convert it into rich, red blood.

We know what Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are and what they will do. We guarantee them to cure indigestion and dyspepsia. If they fail we will refund your money.

Price 25 cents per full package. Sold only at our stores or by mail. The Owl Drug Co., Inc., 13th and Broadway, 10th and Washington and 16th and San Pablo.

ROOSEVELT MAY HELP DIG BIG CANAL

Officials Hear Rumor That Former President Will Work at Panama

GERMANS REACH FOR SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE

Already Apply for Right to Use Waterway Across Isthmus

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — Colonel Goethals, in charge of work on the Isthmian canal, has heard rumors among officials that former President Roosevelt is to take charge of the civil establishment on the zone when he gets back from Africa. Speaking of this report, Colonel Goethals said:

"I have not the slightest idea what Roosevelt contemplates doing when he comes back. Though it has been talked of on the Isthmus among certain officials that the former President will be connected with the work, nothing definite is known. The position is filled by presidential appointments. To get the desired information you will have to see President Taft.

THINGS WILL HUM.

"If Roosevelt did go down there, it is safe to say that things would hum."

Colonel Goethals left yesterday for Martha's Vineyard. He will not go to Beverly unless on invitation, as he knows how busy the President is about this time.

Colonel Goethals says that though Commissioner J. S. C. Blackburn has been in ill health, he has not resigned. Blackburn will come home for a three months' leave of absence about October 15.

MILLIONS FOR FORTS.

Plans for the fortifications of the Isthmus were agreed upon just after the return of Secretary of War Dickinson from the zone. These plans include the expenditure of about $5,000,000 in guns, chief of which will be four inch rifles and mortars.

What the value of the Panama Canal will be to the United States and what the people will get for their $375,200,000, the estimated total cost of the canal, were two questions asked of Colonel Goethals.

DOUBLES NAVY'S POWER.

"I am an army man," said Colonel Goethals. "I look at the canal from a military standpoint solely. The day it is opened for a battleship the effectiveness of the United States navy will be doubled. The cost of construction and maintenance of the canal will be less than the cost and maintenance of two powerful battleship fleets, one for the Atlantic, the other for the Pacific.

"Ships can go from the Atlantic through the canal to San Francisco in about fourteen days. It took the Oregon forty-two days to make the trip around the Horn at the outbreak of the Spanish war.

"The Hamburg-American packet line has taken steps already to get the privilege of using the canal when completed. This company has a line of steamships on the west coast of South America and seems to be building up a good trade.

"Only a few merchant ships are flying the United States flag. It should not be so. I would like to see this country as energetic along this line as are the Germans. We should have ships under the American flag searching for and carrying that trade.

"It would be guesswork to estimate the value of trade that may in the future be built up with the South American countries or with China and Japan and others of the great countries of the east."

TWO POLICEMEN BITTEN ON HANDS

Their Prisoners Are Badly Beaten as Result and Sent to Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Last night was a bad one for the local police and during the evening and the early morning hours, no less than five officers were attacked by their prisoners, two of them being bitten and two forced to seek treatment at the Central Emergency Hospital.

Police Officer J. Sheehan, while patrolling his beat on Sutter street at 2:15 a. m., attempted to arrest George Kogaino, a Japanese of 1613 Geary street, who was terrorizing the neighborhood. The latter put up a strong fight and the policeman was borne to the ground by his small, but sturdy antagonist. The Japanese fought with his hands, nails and feet, and finally bit the officer's finger, when the others did not serve to bring about his release. The disturber was finally overpowered and sent to the Central Emergency Hospital, where he was treated for a lacerated wound of the scalp and an abrasion of the left cheek, and was later locked up at the City Prison.

AT THE HOSPITAL

Patrolman Sheehan was also attended at the hospital, where Dr. Tropham dressed an ugly wound of the finger, caused by Kogaino's bite.

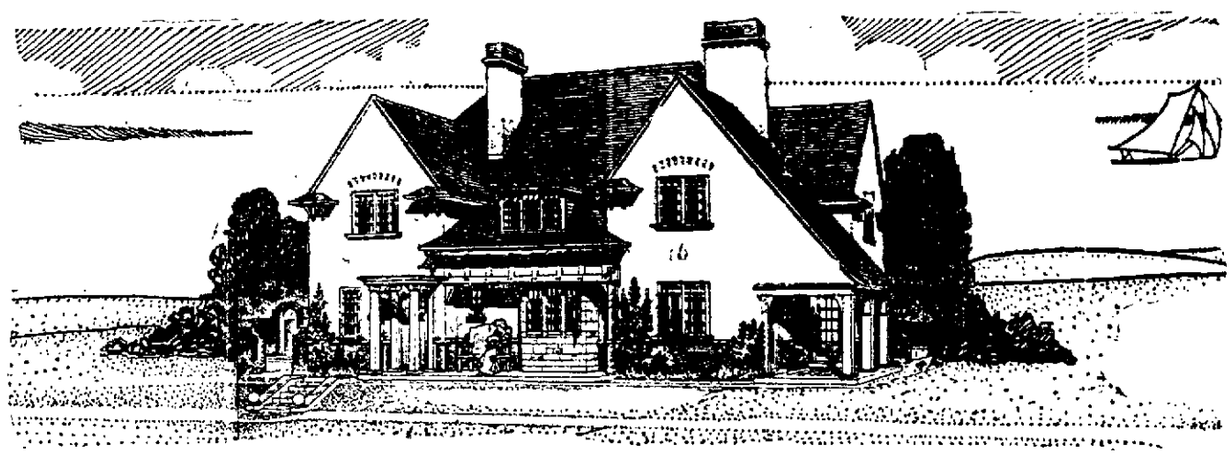
Policemen Maloney and Williams of the Chinatown squad were in plain clothes at 8 o'clock this morning, when their attention was called to Bert Jelleswa and George A. Van Mourek, who were raising a disturbance in Washington street. The officers approached and endeavored to place them under arrest. The men, however, did not recognize their authority, and Jelleswa, jumping upon Maloney, threw him to the street and beat him unmercifully with his fists.

Williams tackled Van Mourek, who also struck out at him, but was more successful with his man, and after having him handcuffed, went to the aid of Maloney, who was faring badly. A diligent use of a club, finally brought the unruly prisoner to his senses, and he was conveyed to the Central Emergency Hospital, where four ugly lacerated wounds of the scalp and a contusion of the forehead, were dressed. Both he and Van Mourek were booked at the City Prison for battery and disturbing the peace.

PRIED JAWS WITH KEY

Policeman W. J. Burns, while attempting to arrest August Ferrari of 585 Filbert street for a minor offense about midnight, was attacked by a man and struck in the face. In the battle which followed, Ferrari got the worst of the situation, and had to have several bruises treated at the Central Emergency Hospital. He was charged with disturbing the peace and resisting an officer.

When Peter J. McArdle, a marine engineer, 50 years old, arrested by P. W. Brown, on a charge of drunkness, was being placed in a cell last night, he caught two of Brown's fingers in his mouth. Every effort to get him to open his jaw seemed without avail, and it was not until Guard John Edward used his large jail doorkey between the teeth of the prisoner that Brown's fingers were released. He was treated at the Central Emergency Hospital.



OUR STRONGEST ARGUMENT

Our strongest argument in favor of Melrose Heights is the volume of business done in the past six months.

In the short space of time that this tract has been on the market over a half million dollars worth of lots have been sold, this is a feat never before accomplished in the sale of suburban property in this section of California.

Two facts are absolutely proven here. First, that the property has unusual merit. Second, that it is being handled in a live and successful manner.

You may not realize it, but the successful exploitation of suburban property is as vital to values as location and improvements.

A raise in values depends largely on the publicity we give the tract, the improvements we install and the building restrictions we place on the property.

MELROSE HEIGHTS

Offers attractive advantages not possessed by any other property in the county; a broad statement, but true nevertheless.

Melrose Heights is only 15 minutes from 12th and Broadway—is as easily reached from San Francisco as Oakland, Berkeley or Alameda.

Melrose Heights is sheltered from high winds and heavy fogs by a sloping range of hills to the north of the tract.

Lots at Melrose Heights are 40, 50 and up to 100 feet wide; the streets are 60, 70 and 80 feet wide. All street work, gas and water mains, sidewalks and ornamental trees installed absolutely free by us.

The rapidity with which the lots are selling, and the intention of the majority of purchasers to build at once assures the rapid sale of the balance of these lots as well as the speedy increase of values.

We are willing to show these lots and explain to you our plan of home building on easy payments.

Phone or call and we'll take you out in the auto.

DENTIST'S WIFE SEEKS SEPARATION

Says Her Husband Treated Her Cruelly by Calling Her Names

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Dr. H. H. Keene, a well-known local dentist, was made defendant today in a divorce suit in which his wife, Clara B. Keene, charges extreme cruelty. The couple were married on October 3, 1908, and two months later, according to the complaint of Mrs. Keene, her husband moved the furniture out of their house without her consent and told her peremptorily to go back to her parents.

She avers that he treated her cruelly in other ways, talked slightingly of her mother, whom he referred to as a chambermaid, and otherwise abused her. She states that he is in receipt of an income of at least $380 per month and requests substantial alimony.

Alice J. Behrmann instituted a suit for divorce against William C. Behrmann today on the ground of cruelty. She avers that on one occasion in a fit of anger he tore her waist from her back, inicting great mental torture.

NEW HUSBAND WANTED CHILD

Curious Tangle Follows Application of Former Mrs. Heijne in Court Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A curious tangle was presented in Judge Cabaniss' court this morning when Mrs. Alma Augusta Heijne requested that her child be turned over to her. The baby, who was in the custody of the woman's sister, was finally made the test. The court thought the child belonged to the mother, and was about to order that it be handed over, when the child clung to the sister's neck and refused to go to the mother.

It appears that on January 2, 1908, Mrs. Heijne, who was then Mrs. Fred Leidecker, secured a divorce and was given the custody of her child. She gave it to her sister to bring up and the latter not long ago married Leidecker, the child practically coming into possession again of its own father.

Meantime Mrs. Leidecker No. 1 married Heijne. He was fond of children and asked his wife to get her baby. This was responsible for the occurrence today in Judge Cabaniss' court, and after observing the sentiment of the child, his honor referred the matter to Judge Graham, who originally granted the divorce, for final judgment.
